COMPUTER PROBLEMS GETTING WORSE

Hatonn—We have lost our file twice this morning, so we will quickly rewrite enough of our information to at least cover the topic most important.

MARCOS LEGACY REVISITED: RAIDERS OF THE LOST GOLD

This information we are offering as GOLD AND OTHER INTERESTING THINGS is taken primarily and most focused on the research and published works of ERICK SAN JUAN of the Philippines.

We now have a working relationship with Mr. San Juan and we appreciate the sharing of information with him. We will be more closely connecting him with some of his fellow research teammates, whom he knows about but with whom he has yet had little interchange.

We now wish to recognize Erick San Juan and offer that this man is a highly respected journalist and public citizen who is working as diligently as possible to recover whatever “Lost Treasure” might be yet available around the globe—for the Philippines.

In uncovering facts relative to the “so-called wealth” which may or may not exist as established or rumored, he has uncovered so much corruption and treason as to make his life quite miserable and DISALLOW the publishing, thus far, of his more important work. We will all take one step at a time, for we are at war with NO ONE! We can work WITH anyone—for in TRUTH and with honor, we have no problems in digging out of the Earth’s BLACK HOLE of distressed condition, through the very ones who got you into the nasty pit. To do this, however, you have to be able to identify the corruption and the corrupters; who, by the way, are the ones who—if anyone—will experience a major migration that you even might call a “rapture”. We intend to recover Earth for mankind, reestablish a world in better circumstance and, yes, remove the ill-begotten parasites from this beautiful Creation. And YES, this is a most important paragraph, which will doubtlessly be lost to almost all—as they scan by to find what might be in this writing of interest to them, personally. You know, the ongoing saga of Disneyland escapades in La-la-Oz.

Where would these entities be reestablished? Where they can best destroy one another without devastating mankind really trying to get through the experiences of human manifestation and allow for movement on into a higher understanding in rightful placement among the Brothers of the Cosmos.

I like to best describe it as finally evolving out of HELL, chelas. And yes, that IS most certainly A GOAL WORTHY OF ACCOMPLISHMENT.

Therefore, bless the Falwells, Robertsons, Bushes, Satanists, etc., and may they go their way quickly and find misery in some other location and out of our faces. But alas, don't count on it in your short-term thinking, for GOOD must overcome BAD—and that means growing up through the muck in a better way, if recovery is to be established and order brought out of the chaos.

Do you question my sanity? How will the “migration” go? Well, by their own hands, of course. The more who leave on that fast boat to wherever, the better for those remaining—and, oh boy, are there a bunch lined up buying (literally) their tickets.

The term “rapture” is what misleads you—the nice stable HUMAN [Higher Universal man]. You will note that even the term is conjured and twisted to fool as many people as possible “all the time”. THIS IS A “RELIGIOUS” gimmick, nothing more. But it allows a whole bunch of people to be “evacuated” to the lands beyond the Sun and Moon, as in “beam” me up, Scotty! They believe their own idiocy and millions upon millions follow on.

Where does the promise take you? Into or “upon” the clouds—and with whom? Jesus? Wow, “Jesus” was a dub given a goodly and, yea, Christly teacher a long time ago—AND AFTER THE FACT. That was not the Teacher's name, you know.

So, you are going to join Jesus in the clouds? Wow, I could have made bets on that happening or not happening because the Universal Law of natural physics demands that objects heavier than air and clouds will FALL BACK DOWN TO THE DENSITY OF SELF. Never mind the pull of gravity; although electromagnetic energy is involved, “gravity”, as such, is not. An object seeks ITS OWN DENSITY. But that is another lesson, already well covered.

So, you blast off to the clouds and there, surely enough, is some type of holographic rainbow surrounding you but once within it, there is no visible evidence—or physical evidence—of it. You can visualize a holographic image only looking at it and not while within it. When you get within it, you become part of it. So, you are there in the illusion? Is that a physical manifestation, or are you dead and dispersed? If you are remaining IN IT, you are physically dead and dispersed or you would “fall down”, chelas. If you are still “physical”, then you are going to have to have some carrier or you are going to definitely “fall down”. And, why do I use the term “down”? Because you won't be far enough off the ground—remember those clouds—to go elsewhere, except in spirit vapor.

But even suppose you could make it, then what? How are you going to EAT? Where are you going to sleep? Who will be bunting you? What the heck are you going to do in the clouds? Oh, yes, “milk” and “honey”. From WHERE are you going to get milk and honey? And oh, yes, it is the “streets” that are milk and honey—they are not on your dinner table, of which you have none anyway. Now, is this not some ridiculous comedy of a play unfolding here? And GOD is going to save you? WHO? GOD and YOU decided to put you on Earth through a joint decision—FOR THE DURATION OF YOUR PHYSICAL LIFESPAN IN YOUR CURRENT ROLE. Why would God get you off—like whisk, whisk, vamoose, ta-da?

Oh yes, and this happens right after you go to war and tear down the mosque on Temple Mount in the Holy Land and rebuild Solomon's Temple there instead—for any “Christian” remaining alive, if perchance one makes it through. Now, does this REALLY sound right? It sounds worse than what a court jester could conjure to entertain the idiot king.

And, by the way, WHERE exactly is this big rapture liftoff supposed to happen? Well, yes, since you have to depend on craft to pick you up, perchance you “make it” UP: Where are you going to stage this big event? Hummmnn, is that also God's problem? Well, it surely looks to me like it is YOUR problem. NO, IT IS NOT “MY” PROBLEM!

And do YOU really think the Cosmic BROTHERS are going to rush over and scoop you out of your own game, wherein you are given full rights to FREE-WILL CHOICES?

IS ALL THIS SOMEWHAT OF A REVELATION TO YOU READERS? AND HOW MANY READERS MIGHT WE HAVE? Oh, well, along about now, perchance a few thousand? Will we be crowded after the Big One (whichever comes first)? I don't think so but the exact and perfect number of people will be present—GOD WORKS THAT WAY.

No, I do not care how many “readers” of, say, CONTACT go away. If you choose shape-shifters and bogeymen to TRUTH—and you have been long with ME—then I welcome your absence and can hardly wait to clear out the deadwood, nose-growing stickers-in-our-backsides.

And who tells you it is NOT THIS WAY? WHO? TRY AGAIN: WHO? Name one other thing they have told you that is in TRUTH? Or better put, perhaps: Name anything they have told you that is actually correct—and how many things have they done WRONG? Criminally wrong!?

The Holocaust—of which we are again offering some insight—is one of those figments conjured for shock value and a foundation upon which to build one of the most fantastic lies in history—but not yet THE, by any means, greatest. The tales through the eons have actually gotten quite piddley, as you have regressed into ignorance and stupor. This is but a FABRICATION; you had a lot of the “real thing” in such as the Inquisition and Crusades. But “this lie” is all about greed and get the gold and is, thus, ever so much more dreary and unimpressive and truly without imagination. But then, Satan has NEVER had to be creative, has he?

WORST OR BEST?

So, is this the worst time in history or the BEST? Oh my, by far the very BEST. And are you going to miss the people who choose to push you out and go their way while taking all they can steal from you? Would you miss the blows of the hammer upon your head when they stop? Do you miss the flood drowning you when it recedes? Do you miss the starvation when food is upon your table and in your tummy? Are YOU ever so much a bit short-sighted?

You of GOD have everything in the physical arena to accomplish peace, prosperity and righteousness. The question is: Can you use it? Yes, so the greater question is: WILL YOU? Yes, some will and it will be enough! Let the imbeciles and greedy little snitches fall off the edge, and perhaps they can shape-shift enough to fly—but I doubt it. It is not mine or yours to intervene in their games and choices. DO YOU SEE? YOU CANNOT “SAVE” ANYONE'S SOUL “FOR” THEM, NOR DO YOU HAVE A RIGHT TO INTERFERE WITH THEIR OWN DIRECTION OF SOUL FLOW.

You must do the RESPONSIBLE thing and take back what is right, and then send the thieves packing to wherever is appropriate—and, in some instances, it is to jail, my friends. GOD ALLOWS! You discern and act in WISDOM and in RIGHT RESPONSIBILITY. It is ACCEPTANCE of these evil games and actions that has allowed the LIE TO BECOME THE WAY. When YOU refuse to stop the silly nonsense of the demand for forgiveness WITHOUT RETRIBUTION, you are as silly as the tricksters. I do NOT want sillies on my crew—I must have total dependability and follow-through. And, no, I do not care what “somebody” told you—if they did not tell you these truths, they are not your friend and should not be your teacher.

But it costs so much to take this legal stand? Then get busy and get the funds! And, no, done properly, it costs very, very little. However, the way you have thus far handled it, it NOW requires great input—but we need to keep the lawyers alive also, in order to have some available for the proper use of the laws and “their” knowledge of how to structure contracts and business protection to secure from the grabbers. And YES, chelas, I AM A GOOD LAWYER, IN FACT, and we have structured our central programs very well, indeed! Even the legal RAIDERS have been unable to break the contracts, duplicate the documents authentically OR do more than further confuse the already confused. And yes, we do it with open publication of terms and considerations as to agreements with the big, dark-secret opposition teams. We are not out to KILL anyone, even crime or criminals. We are only out to build an opportunity for survival, growth and finally freedom, for all—even the delinquents playing in the mud-hole.

So, will you who are the nucleus team be able to sustain the paper and those things “back home”? That is up to YOU. It changes very little, except as to convenience, if you must shut down everything, including rentals. You will have a month or so to “hold” and then, if everything is TAKEN, you can go if pushed away under eviction. STOP LIVING IN FEAR and you will surely better enjoy the journey into better Light. We are going to accomplish exactly what we came to get done, and that means allowance of ability for the ones doing the job—to best get it done.

If you “lose” everything of physical, what have you really lost? When there are funds, and yes there will be, you can replace every thing lost—if such be just “things”. The animals must not be left, do you see? And you can move computers, etc. prior to any eviction because the LAW REALLY DOES PROTECT YOU from what happened at Adam Drive. The LAW would never have allowed that to happen and it shall be met head-on in court, when convenient and appropriate. Then it will be handled both civilly and under criminal charges—depending on our decisions regarding the matter. There is certainly no hurry now that the, so to speak, horse is out of the barn and deaded. We will take our priorities in order and that is a long way DOWN THE LIST, for the pain and taking is already done—why do foolish things now? And the further people PUSH, the more costly it becomes—TO THEM.

Does anyone realize, even Ekkers, that they need not ever return to set foot on U.S. soil—ever again? They are loved—yea, even adored—right in the Philippines, and the plea from the people is to “not” leave here. And yes, they could make it nicely on their Social Security “over here”. Right now, the entire Social Security is going to legal fees and general expenses of the crew back home and, yes, to pay the hotel bills accrued. So, can our team make it? OF COURSE! For even if you have to go back to sharing up a dwelling or doing something else, you certainly CAN make it a few more weeks. “Loss” is ONLY IN THE MIND. Remember that the HAY is reaching perfection of harvest—while you fail to even notice. If you bundle it too soon, it molds; if you keep it untended, it spoils—perfection is knowing when to bail it and when to let it ripen. Most involved have not been put out one iota by our circumstances, and those who have helped out WILL RECEIVE ABUNDANTLY IN RETURN—FOR THAT IS ALREADY BEING SECURED.

What we will decide to do in the future will now be free of strings, and decisions will be without pressure and in wise actions—not forced necessity. I repeat for my crew that money (actual funds) HAS BEEN TRANSFERRED—it is only now a matter of getting the banks to move it properly and appropriately. Life truly is, even in the banking community, what happens while you are making other plans. We have interruptions by things such as death of responsible persons, to hospitalization of the signatory for release, to failure to conclude certain inane and absurd paperwork. And no, this does not even involve THE PROGRAM underway. And yes, it IS underway, but only in the first stage of ability to start up with any kind of “order”. And yes, this is exactly the sequence of events most suitable for our needs. We also need ability to clear decks and focus attention away from the drag-lines, get on with the stabilizing, look around for best next action, secure our businesses PROPERLY—and then move forward clean and secure. And yes, indeed, we DO HAVE A TEAM that can do it—“domestic and foreign”, I believe is your term for this procedure.

What will happen in the U.S.A.? With this project? I don’t know and do not care a whit. The U.S. is, as presented, the Elite Jewish Zionist Homeland. What is left of the united States of America is of great concern and whatever can be utilized legally there shall be provided. Our thrust—under the prevailing circumstances—is with the Sovereign Native American Citizens and their Sovereign nations. We have no wish nor purpose to do anything to or for the FEDERAL SHYSTERS OF THE U.S. GOVERNMENT. We can work WITH any branch of any organization—including the U.S.—but we certainly have no cause to do so. Our agreements, as public notices, are to NOT attend anything in the U.S. domestically. And since there is no working program OTHERWISE ESTABLISHED AT THIS TIME, this is the contract upon which we function. We make no demands on anyone even working with us—except that they must sign legally binding contracts to use their funds in humanitarian projects, etc. We realize we cannot even control what they do further than that—but we do not bend on what happens with our portion! We base the transaction totally on hard value, which is retained by the operating bank involved, and we then are allowed to remove some 20% for projects—borrowed against the hard-value collateral. Most of that we will also pour right back into the infrastructure of the nation funding. The rest will be provided to the Native Americans for building their own nations—THEMSELVES, based on the same principle of gaining funding—with a substantial base of hard commodity to support their currency 100%.

Too good to be true? No, totally THE HONORABLE thing to have been done since inception of monetary concepts of exchange. Freedom of money exchange in value—for value—means FREEDOM. WOULD YOU EXPECT LESS OF GOD IN ANSWER TO THE BILLIONS OF TRUE PRAYERS FOR RECOVERY AND FREEDOM OF NATIONS OF YOUR GLOBE? If you truly expected LESS, then you are not of GOD OF CREATION AND LIGHT! Check your own inner compass. Are you in the hologram or the reality?

Will there be cases of those trying to usurp—for their own purposes and greed—our property? Of course, UNTIL THEY LEARN IT SIMPLY DOES NOT “PAY”. Why steal a car when the owner is transferring the title and handing you the keys? There are fools but these get to be less in numbers as understanding of RESPONSIBILITY shifts into the BETTER WAY.

CAN IT BE ACCOMPLISHED? YES, INDEED. IT IS ALREADY ACCOMPLISHED—YOU JUST HAVE TO CATCH UP AND LEARN YOUR LINES IN THIS SCRIPT, CHELAS.

And to you who choose the “rapture”—whoop-eee! Go for it, but remember in the rapture—unlike an airplane ride—the takeoff can “getcha” as badly as the bad landing.

And to our little nit-picker, self-proclaimed “enemies”: Have a nice day—for the “get away with it” days are surely numbered!

Salu, and surely, if you ask in sincere petition in willingness to change your attitudes to truth, justice and brotherhood—GOD IS WITH YOU AND IN YOUR TOTAL SERVICE.

APPRECIATION

Hatonn—I would open today’s article with an offer of appreciation to you readers and especially to the staff who must sort, paste and try to put all this seemingly disconnected material into reasonable sequence and identification.

It needs to be in bits and pieces to appropriately honor sources without tampering with information as presented originally and with comments inserted only as notations.

The information which is yet waiting to come to your attention is even more “incredible” and you need this background to see all of the connections which you will, as Sherlock, discover. I realize it is difficult to have interruptions as in “series” material but, on the other hand, it also allows you to have pieces less likely missed than in simply publishing 500 pages of material dumped onto you. Of necessity, CONTACT has to be kept to 24 pages, for that is all that can be afforded, and other material is also pertinent and mandatory—even to any information from these series offerings.

We also need to keep you up on other things—even, for instance, when we have new product in the health line, for you deserve that ongoing information and even more—so that as we climb out of the devastating assaults and thefts, we will be able to build again. I do not want us as this paper to even consider paid advertising—as in just open it up, as THE SPOTLIGHT has to do to survive—for the expense is too great, if it can be avoided at all. Anything we offer is valid, verified and not an advertising “gimmick”. We will continue to push hard our known authors—i.e., Mullins, Phillips, et al.—because they are outstanding in TRUTH and we will simply set forth a foundation of some kind to get them a “living”, so that they have to make no compromises. We have a long list, all the way and inclusive of such as THE SPOTLIGHT itself and no, they do NOT even know it. We don’t want accolades—we want truth to have the opportunity to flow. And no, we don’t have anything yet, so this speech is, yes, totally academic. But, with God, promises are KEPT and they must be “kept” through His team as it is processed into human physical possibility. We on this team are all working toward the same goal and even though many got distracted, we will grow and abundance will come to pass in its proper sequence—and meanwhile, nothing is “less” because of seeming delays.

Therefore, we as contributors to the journalistic excellence of this paper will continue as we can do so. At this time, this is the way it IS!

You might ask: “But what does taking of gold from Switzerland by the World Jewish Congress have to do with the price of tea in China or the state of the Philippines Stock Exchange (by the way, now CLOSED) in Manila?” EVERYTHING! LET THE PIECES REVEAL THE TRUTH, AND YOU WILL

SEE IT AND WONDER WHAT KEPT YOU BLIND FOR SO LONG!

With this explanation and thank you, we will proceed with: Did Six Million Really Die?— PART 3, by Richard Harwood. [QUOTING:]

3. POPULATION AND EMIGRATION

Statistics relating to Jewish populations are not everywhere known in precise detail; approximations for various countries differ widely, and it is also unknown exactly how many Jews were deported and interned at any one time between the years 1939-1945. In general, however, what reliable statistics there are, especially those relating to emigration, are sufficient to show that not a [significant] fraction of six million Jews could have been exterminated.

In the first place, this claim cannot remotely be upheld on examination of the European Jewish population figures. According to Chambers Encyclopedia, the total number of Jews living in pre-War Europe was 6,500,000. Quite clearly, this would mean that almost the entire number was exterminated. But the Baseler Nachrichten, a neutral Swiss publication employing available Jewish statistical data, established that between 1933 and 1945, 1,500,000 emigrated to Britain, Sweden, Spain, Portugal, Australia, China, India, Palestine and the United States. This is confirmed by the Jewish journalist Bruno Blau, who cites the same figure in the New York Jewish paper Aufbau, August 13th, 1948. Of these emigrants, approximately 400,000 came from Germany before September 1939. This is acknowledged by the World Jewish Congress in its publication Unity in Dispersion (p. 377), which states that: “The majority of the German Jews succeeded in leaving Germany before the war broke out.” In addition to the German Jews, 220,000 of the total 280,000 Austrian Jews had emigrated by September, 1939 while from March 1939 onwards the Institute for Jewish Emigration in Prague had secured the emigration of 260,000 Jews from former Czechoslovakia. In all, only 360,000 Jews remained in Germany, Austria and Czechoslovakia after September 1939. From Poland, an estimated 500,000 had emigrated prior to the outbreak of war. These figures mean that the number of Jewish emigrants from other European countries (France, the Netherlands, Italy, the countries of Eastern Europe, etc.) was approximately 120,000.

This exodus of Jews BEFORE and DURING HOSTILITIES, therefore, reduces the number of Jews in Europe to approximately 5,000,000. In addition to these emigrants, we must also include the number of Jews who fled to the Soviet Union after 1939 and who were later evacuated beyond reach of the German invaders. It will be shown below that the majority of these, about 1,250,000, were migrants from Poland. But apart from Poland, Reitlinger admits that 300,000 other European Jews slipped into Soviet territory between 1939 and 1941. This brings the total of Jewish emigrants to the Soviet Union to about 1,550,000. In Colliers magazine, June 9th, 1945, Freiling Foster, writing of the Jews in Russia, explained that “2,200,000 have migrated to the Soviet Union since 1939 to escape from the Nazis”, but our lower estimate is probably more accurate.

Jewish migration to the Soviet Union, therefore, reduces the number of Jews within the sphere of German occupation to around 3-1/2 million, approximately 3,450,000. From these should be deducted those Jews living in neutral European countries who escaped the consequences of the War. According to the 1942 World Almanac (p. 594) the number of Jews living in Gibraltar, Britain, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Ireland and Turkey was 413,128.

3 MILLION JEWS IN EUROPE

A figure, consequently, of around 3 million Jews in German-occupied Europe is as accurate as the available emigration statistics will allow. Approximately the same number, however, can be deduced in another way, if we examine statistics for the Jewish populations remaining in countries occupied by the Reich. More than half of those Jews who migrated to the Soviet Union after 1939 came from Poland. [H: This is, of course, with one very major exception and that is the one who migrated to the Vatican as POPE.] It is frequently claimed that the war with Poland added some 3 million Jews to the German sphere of influence and that almost the whole of this Polish Jewish population remaining was “exterminated”. This is a major factual error. The 1931 Jewish population census for Poland put the number of Jews at 2,732,600 (Reitlinger, Die Endlosung, p. 36). Reitlinger states that at least 1,170,000 of these were in the Russian zone occupied in the autumn of 1939, about a million of whom were evacuated to the Urals and south Siberia after the German invasion of June 1941 (ibid. p. 50). As described above, an estimated 500,000 Jews had emigrated from Poland prior to the War. Moreover, the journalist Raymond Arthur Davis, who spent the War in the Soviet Union, observed that approximately 250,000 had already fled from German-occupied Poland to Russia between 1939 and 1941 and were to be encountered in every Soviet province (Odyssey Through Hell, N.Y., 1946). Subtracting these figures from the population of 2,732,600, therefore, and allowing for the normal population increase, no more than 1,100,000 Polish Jews could have been under German rule at the end of 1939 (Gutachen des Instituts fur Zeitgeschichte Munich, 1956, p. 80).

To this number we may add the 360,000 Jews remaining in Germany, Austria and former Czechoslovakia (Bohemia-Moravia and Slovakia) after the extensive emigration from those countries prior to the War, described above. Of the 320,000 French Jews, the Public Prosecutor representing that part of the indictment relating to France at the Nuremberg Trials stated that 120,000 Jews were deported, though Reitlinger estimates only about 50,000. Thus, the total number of Jews under Nazi rule remains below two million. Deportations from the Scandinavian countries were few, and from Bulgaria none at all. When the Jewish populations of Holland (140,000), Belgium (40,000), Italy (50,000), Yugoslavia (55,000), Hungary (380,000) and Romania (725,000) are included, the figure does not much exceed 3 million. This excess is due to the fact that the latter figures are pre-War estimates unaffected by emigration, which from these countries accounted for about 120,000 (see above). This cross-checking, therefore, confirms the estimate of approximately 2 million European Jews under German occupation.

[H: The proof you seek is in the final counting, readers, for if there were not 6 million Jews available—AND A WHOLE BIG BUNCH DID SURVIVE TO WALK AWAY AND COLLECT RESTITUTION, INTO THE BILLIONS AND BILLIONS OF DOLLARS—HOW MANY “COULD” HAVE DIED? THESE KINDS OF NUMBERS DO NOT LIE. It is also noted here that great numbers of Jews have come BACK to claim that they were falsely identified as “dead”, and it is found that they had deliberately listed themselves as “deceased” or “exterminated” but now are somehow reincarnated to receive restitution payments. I didn’t make up this truth, my good friends; I am simply stating facts.]

RUSSIAN JEWS EVACUATED

The precise figures concerning Russian Jews are unknown, and have, therefore, been the subject of extreme exaggeration. The Jewish statistician Jacob Leszczynski states that in 1939 there were 2,100,000 Jews living in future German-occupied Russia, i.e., Western Russia. In addition, some 260,000 lived in the Baltic States of Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania. According to Louis Levine, President of the American Jewish Council for Russian Relief, who made a post-War tour of the Soviet Union and submitted a report on the status of Jews there, the majority of these numbers were evacuated east after the German armies launched their invasion. In Chicago, on October 30th, 1946, he declared that: “At the outset of the War, Jews were amongst the first evacuated from the western regions threatened by the Hitlerite invaders, and shipped to safety east of the Urals. Two million Jews were thus saved.” This high number is confirmed by the Jewish journalist David Bergelson, who wrote in the Moscow Yiddish paper Ainikeit, December 5th, 1942 that, “Thanks to the evacuation, the majority (80%) of the Jews in the Ukraine, White Russia, Lithuania and Latvia before the arrival of the Germans were rescued.” Reitlinger agrees with the Jewish authority Joseph Schechtmann, who admits that huge numbers were evacuated, though he estimates a slightly higher number of Russian and Baltic Jews left under German occupation, between 650,000 and 850,000 (Reitlinger, The Final Solution, p. 499). In respect of these Soviet Jews remaining in German territory, it will be proved later that in the War, in Russia, no more than one hundred thousand persons were killed by the German Action Groups as partisans and Bolshevik commissars, not all of whom were Jews. By contrast, the partisans themselves claimed to have murdered five times that number of German troops.

“SIX MILLION” UNTRUE ACCORDING TO NEUTRAL SWISS

It is clear, therefore, that the Germans could not possibly have gained control over or exterminated anything like six million Jews. Excluding the Soviet Union, the number of Jews in Nazi-occupied Europe after emigration was scarcely more than three million, by no means all of whom were interned. To approach the extermination of even half of six million would have meant the liquidation of every Jew living in Europe. And yet, it is known that large numbers of Jews were alive in Europe AFTER 1945. Philip Friedmann in Their Brother’s Keepers (N.Y., 1957, p. 13), states that “at least a million Jews survived in the very crucible of the Nazi hell”, while the official figure of the Jewish Joint Distribution Committee is 1,555,660. Thus, even if one-accepts the latter estimate, the number of possible wartime Jewish deaths could not have exceeded a limit of one and-a-half million. Precisely this conclusion was reached by the reputable journal Baseler Nachrichten of neutral Switzerland. In an article entitled, “Wie hoch ist die Zahl der Juidischen Opfer?” (“How high is the number of Jewish victims?”), June 13, 1946), it explained that purely on the basis of the population and emigration figures described above, a maximum of only one-and-a-half million Jews “could” be numbered as casualties. Later on, however, it will be demonstrated conclusively that the number was actually far less, for the Baseler Nachrichten accepted the joint Distribution Committee’s figure of 1,559,600 survivors after the War, but WE SHALL SHOW THAT THE NUMBER OF CLAIMS FOR COMPENSATION BY JEWISH SURVIVORS IS MORE THAN DOUBLE THAT FIGURE. This information was not available to the Swiss in 1946.

IMPOSSIBLE BIRTH RATE

Indisputable evidence is also provided by the post-War world Jewish population statistics. The World Almanac of 1938 gives the number of Jews in the world as 16,588,259. But after the War, the New York Times, February 22nd, 1948 placed the number of Jews in the world at a minimum of 15,600,000 and a maximum of 18,700,000. Quite obviously, these figures make it impossible for the number of Jewish wartime casualties to be measured in anything but thousands. 15-1/2 million in 1938 minus the alleged six million leaves nine million; the New York Times figures would mean, therefore, that the world’s Jews produced seven million births, almost doubling their numbers, in the space of ten years. This is patently ridiculous.

It would appear, therefore, that the great majority of the missing “six million” were, in fact, emigrants—emigrants to the European countries, to the Soviet Union and the United States BEFORE, DURING AND AFTER THE WAR. And emigrants, also, in vast numbers to Palestine during and especially at the end of the War. After 1945, boat-loads of these Jewish survivors entered Palestine illegally from Europe, causing considerable embarrassment to the British Government of the time; indeed, so great were the numbers that the H.M. Stationery Office Publication No. 190 (November 5th, 1946) described them as “almost amounting to a second Exodus”.

It was these emigrants to all parts of the world who had swollen the world Jewish population to between 15 and 18 millions by 1948, and probably the greatest part of them were emigrants to the United States, who entered in VIOLATION OF THE QUOTA LAWS. On August 16, 1963, David Ben Gurion, President of Israel, stated that although the official Jewish population of America was said to be 5,600,000, “the total number would not be estimated too high at 9,000,000” (Deutsche Wochenzeitung, November 23rd, 1963). The reason for this high figure is underlined by Albert Maisal in his article “OUR NEWEST Americans” (Readers Digest, January 1957), for he reveals that “Soon after World War II, by Presidential decree, 90 percent of all quota visas for Central and Eastern Europe were issued to the uprooted”.

Reprinted on this page is just one extract from hundreds that regularly appear in the obituary columns of Aufbau, the Jewish-American weekly published in New York (June 16th, 1972). It shows how Jewish emigrants to the United States SUBSEQUENTLY CHANGED THEIR NAMES. For example, as below: Arthur Kingsley (formerly Dr. Knigsberger of Frankfurt) [H: and four family members]. Could it be that some or all of these people whose names are “deceased” were included in the missing six million of Europe?

[END OF QUOTING, PART 3]

Ah, indeed, good people—clever, shrewd and I might add: expensive. How are YOU ever going to gain retribution for this outrageous game? Some of those very Jews have now taken over and RUN THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, AS IN “GOVERNMENT”. It’s a nice game, I suppose, if you work it right for yourselves. The world weeps for you, while you laugh all the way to the bank!

I also have a question for the master magicians: “How did all those billions of dollars get shifted, along with gold, into Swiss banks from all those dead people—before, during or after the ordeal?”

I am also a bit interested in some things I witness in our own “old” circles of acquaintances. Some who actually bashed, abused and literally joined the opposition now come back asking for a place on our ark—and, by they way, “throw me a life-line, please” so I don’t sink. This while there is not yet a finished ark to even occupy. Yes, indeed, Dharma does have some “bad moments”. We are still pleased to see, however, it is only because there is not yet success to share. We will make it, friends, and until we do—YOU MUST. The donkey is all but broken!

This is not complaint; this is facing the facts while we create a better pathway.

You must realize that, even as people, nations must get about as low as they can go to change, take power from the corrupted and corrupters, and re-set the sails to catch the new wind. We’ll do it, but not if we sink our own ship with barnacles before we get underway.

Did Six Million Really Die?

(Part 4)

3/10/00—#1

FANTASTIC EXAGGERATIONS

4. THE SIX MILLION

DOCUMENTARY EVIDENCE

From the foregoing, it would seem certain that the figure of six million murdered Jews amounts to nothing more than a vague compromise between several quite baseless estimates; there is not a shred of documentary evidence for it that is trustworthy. Occasionally, writers narrow it down to give a disarming appearance of authenticity. Lord Russell of Liverpool, for example, in his The Scourge of the Swastika (London, 1954) claimed that “not less than five million” died in German concentration camps, having satisfied himself that he was somewhere between those who estimated 6 million and those who preferred 4 million. But, he admitted, “the real number will never be known”. If so, it is difficult to know how he could have asserted “not less than five million”. The Joint Distribution Committee favors 5,012,000, but the Jewish “expert” Reitlinger suggests a novel figure of 4,192,200 “missing Jews”, of whom an estimated one-third died of natural causes. This would reduce the number deliberately “exterminated” to 2,796,000. However, Dr. M. Perlsweig, the New York delegate to a World Jewish Congress press conference held at Geneva in 1948 stated: “The price of the downfall of National Socialism and Fascism is the fact that seven million Jews lost their lives thanks to cruel anti-Semitism.” In the press and elsewhere, the figure is often casually lifted to eight million or sometimes even nine million. As we have proved in the previous chapter, none of these figures are in the remotest degree plausible; indeed, they are ridiculous.

So far as is known, the first accusation against the Germans of the mass murder of Jews in War-time Europe was made by the Polish Jew Rafael Lemkin, in his book Axis Rule in Occupied Europe, published in New York in 1943. Somewhat coincidentally, Lemkin was later to draw up the UN Genocide Convention, which seeks to outlaw “racialism”. His book claimed that the Nazis had destroyed millions of Jews, perhaps as many as six million. This, by 1943, would have been remarkable, indeed, since the action was allegedly started only in the summer of 1942. At such a rate, the entire world Jewish population would have been exterminated by 1945.

After the War, propaganda estimates spiraled to heights even more fantastic. Kurt Gerstein, an anti-Nazi who claimed to have infiltrated the S.S., told the French interrogator Raymond Cartier that he knew that no less than forty million concentration camp internees had been gassed. In his first signed memorandum of April 26, 1945, he brought the figure closer to the six million preferred at the Nuremberg Trials. Gerstein’s sister was congenitally insane and died by euthanasia, which may well suggest a streak of mental instability in Gerstein, himself. He had, in fact, been convicted in 1936 of sending eccentric mail through the post. After his two “confessions”, he hanged himself at Cherche Midi Prison in Paris.

Gerstein alleged that during the War he passed on information concerning the murder of Jews to the Swedish Government through a German baron, but for some inexplicable reason his report was “filed away and forgotten”. He also claimed that in August 1942 he informed the Papal Nuncio in Berlin about the whole “extermination program”, but the reverend person merely told him to “Get out.” The Gerstein statements abound with claims to have witnessed the most gigantic mass executions (twelve thousand in a single day at Belzec), while the second memorandum describes a visit by Hitler to a concentration camp in Poland on June 6th, 1942, which is known never to have taken place.

Gerstein’s fantastic exaggerations have done little but discredit the whole notion of mass extermination. Indeed, Evangelical Bishop Wilhelm Dibelius of Berlin denounced his memoranda as “untrustworthy” (H. Rothfels, “Augenzeugenbericht zu den Massenvergasungen” in Vierteljahrshefte für Zeitgeschichte, April 1953). It is an incredible fact, however, that in spite of this denunciation, the German Government in 1955 issued an edition of the second Gerstein memorandum for distribution in German schools (Dokumentation zur Massenvergasung, Bonn, 1955). In it they stated that Dibelius placed his special confidence in Gerstein and that the memoranda were “valid beyond any doubt”. This is a striking example of the way in which the baseless charge of genocide by the Nazis is perpetuated in Germany and directed especially to the youth.

The story of six million Jews exterminated during the War was given final authority at the Nuremberg Trials by the statement of Dr. Wilhelm Hoettl. He had been an assistant of Eichmann's, but was, in fact, a rather strange person in the service of American Intelligence, who had written several books under the pseudonym of Walter Hagen. Hoettl who also worked for Soviet espionage, collaborating with two Jewish emigrants from Vienna, Perger and Verber, who acted as U.S. officers during the preliminary inquiries of the Nuremberg Trials. It is remarkable that the testimony of this highly dubious person, Hoettl, is said to constitute the only "proof" regarding the murder of six million Jews. In his affidavit of November 26th, 1945, he stated, not that he knew but that Eichmann had "told him" in August 1944 in Budapest, that a total of 6 million Jews had been exterminated. Needless to say, Eichmann never corroborated this claim at his trial. Hoettl was working as an American spy during the whole of the latter period of the War, and it is, therefore, very odd, indeed, that he never gave the slightest hint to the Americans of the policy to murder Jews, even though he worked directly under Heydrich and Eichmann.

ABSENCE OF EVIDENCE

It should be emphasized straight away that there is not a single document in existence which proves that the Germans intended, or carried out, the deliberate murder of Jews. In Poliakov and Wulf's Das Dritte Reich und die Juden: Dokumente und Aufsätze (Berlin, 1955), the most that they can assemble are statements extracted after the War from people like Hoettl, Ohlendorf and Wisliceny, the latter under torture in a Soviet prison. In the absence of any evidence, therefore, Poliakov is forced to write: "The three or four people chiefly involved in drawing up the plan for total extermination are dead, and no documents survive." This seems very convenient. Quite obviously, both the plan and the "three or four" people are nothing but nebulous assumptions on the part of the writer and are entirely unprovable. The documents which do survive, of course, make no mention at all of extermination, so that writers like Poliakov and Reitlinger again make the convenient assumption that such orders were generally "verbal". Though lacking any documentary proof, they assume that a plan to murder Jews must have originated in 1941, coinciding with the attack on Russia. Phase one of the plan is alleged to have involved the massacre of Soviet Jews, a claim we shall disprove later. The rest of the programme is supposed to have begun in March 1942, with the deportation and concentration of European Jews in the eastern camps of the Polish Government-General, such as the giant industrial complex at Auschwitz near Cracow. The fantastic and quite groundless assumption throughout is that transportation to the East, supervised by Eichmann's department, actually meant immediate extermination in ovens on arrival.

According to Manvel and Frankl (Heinrich Himmler, London, 1965), the policy of genocide "seems to have been arrived at" after "secret discussions" between Hitler and Himmler (p. 118), though they fail to prove it. Reitlinger and Poliakov guess along similar "verbal" lines, adding that no one else was allowed to be present at these discussions and no records were ever kept of them. This is the purest invention, for there is not a shred of evidence that even suggests such outlandish meetings took place. William Shirer, in his The Rise and Fall of the Third Reich, is similarly muted on the subject of documentary proof. He states weakly that Hitler's supposed order for the murder of Jews "apparently was never committed to paper—at least no copy of it has yet been unearthed. It was probably given verbally to Goering, Himmler and Heydrich, who passed it down..." (p. 1148).

A typical example of the kind of "proof" quoted in support of the extermination legend is given by Manvell and Frankl. They cite a memorandum of 31st July, 1941 sent by Goering to Heydrich, who headed the Reich Security Head Office and was Himmler's deputy. Significantly, the memorandum begins: "Supplementing the task that was assigned to you on 24th January 1939, to solve the Jewish problem by means of emigration and evacuation in the best possible way according to present conditions...". The supplementary task assigned in the memorandum is a "total solution (Gesamtlosung) of the Jewish question within the area of German influence in Europe", which the authors admit means concentration in the East, and it requests preparations for the "organizational, financial and material matters" involved. The memorandum then requests a future plan for the "desired final solution" (Endlosung), which clearly refers to the ideal and ultimate scheme of emigration and evacuation mentioned at the beginning of the directive. NO MENTION WHATEVER IS MADE OF MURDERING PEOPLE, BUT MANVELL AND FRANKL ASSURE US THAT THIS IS WHAT THE MEMORANDUM IS REALLY ABOUT. AGAIN, OF COURSE, THE "TRUE NATURE" OF THE FINAL, AS DISTINCT FROM THE TOTAL, SOLUTION "WAS MADE KNOWN ONLY TO HEYDRICH BY GOERING VERBALLY" (ibid, p. 118). The convenience of these "verbal" directives issuing back and forth is obvious.

THE WANNSEE CONFERENCE

The final details of the plan to exterminate Jews were supposed to have been made at a conference at Gross Wannsee in Berlin on 20th January, 1942, presided over by Heydrich (Poliakov, Das Dritte Reich und die Juden, p. 120 ff; Reitlinger, The Final Solution, p. 95 ff). Officials of all German ministries were present, and Muller and Eichmann represented the Gestapo Head Office. Reitlinger and Manvell and Frankl consider the minutes of this conference to be their trump card in proving the existence of a genocide plan, but the truth is that no such plan was even mentioned and, what is more, they freely admit this. Manvell and Frankl explain it away rather lamely by saying that "The minutes are shrouded in the form of officialdom that cloaks the real significance of the words and terminology that are used" (The Incomparable Crime, London, 1967, p. 46), which really means that they intend to interpret them in their own way. What Heydrich actually said was that, as in the memorandum quoted above, he had been commissioned by Goering to arrange a solution to the Jewish problem. He reviewed the history of Jewish emigration, stated that the War had rendered the Madagascar Project impractical, and continued: "The emigration program has been replaced now by the evacuation of Jews to the East as a further possible solution, in accordance with the previous authorization of the Fuhrer." Here, he explained, their labour was to be utilized. All this is supposed to be deeply sinister, and pregnant with the hidden meaning that the Jews were to be exterminated, though Professor Paul Rassinier, a Frenchman interned at Buchenwald who has done sterling work in refuting the Myth of the Six Million, explains that it means precisely what it says, i.e., the concentration of the Jews for labour in the immense eastern ghetto of the Polish Government-General. "There they were to wait until the end of the War, for the re-opening of international discussions which would decide their future. This decision was finally reached at the inter-ministerial Berlin-Wannsee conference..." (Rassinier, Le Veritable Proces Eichmann, p. 20). Manvell and Frankl, however, remain undaunted by the complete lack of reference to extermination. At the Wannsee Conference, they write, "Direct references to killing were avoided, Heydrich favoring the term "Arbeitseinsatz im Osten" (labour assignment in the East)" (Heinrich Himmler, p. 209). Why we should not accept labour assignment in the East to mean labour assignment in the East is not explained.

ACCORDING TO REITLINGER AND OTHERS, INNUMERABLE DIRECTIVES ACTUALLY SPECIFYING EXTERMINATION THEN PASSED BETWEEN HIMMLER, HEYDRICH, EICHMANN AND COMMANDANT HOESS IN THE SUBSEQUENT MONTHS OF 1942 BUT, OF COURSE, "NONE HAVE SURVIVED".

[H: Do you not find it totally incredible that these Jews who present the LIES are the SAME people who also claim that the PROTOCOLS OF THE ELDERS OF ZION are "forgeries"? And, is not a "forgery" at the least a "copy" of "something"? It does, indeed, however, remind me to cause you—who are making every effort to meet requirements as laid forth by the controlling "heads"—to have to work without any evidence of identification, except as slips through from time to time, of those controlling you. I always think of these liars as lizards from the black hole. They actually passed THROUGH the black holes to reach your place, and so be it. We meet the requirements in the OPEN—while PUBLISHING what we do and OUR AGREEMENTS in open forum. They can lie if they wish, but it behooves them to honor to some measure their agreements because, otherwise, they will cancel our agreements and we will no longer have demand for restraint. It simply is better business to work with us than AGAINST us, for—as with Mr. Martin of Tehachapi—it is so much better when you do not declare yourself an enemy of those working in the LIGHT FOR TRUTH. When your commitment and promise (contract) is broken with GOD, there is nowhere lower to hide. Think about it.

When you speak of getting something done, I am going to share something with you people who pulled away and declared (some of you through actions) yourselves enemies of "our cause", that wisdom was not at the root of your actions or intent. To further notice that, we will—in a few days, when we catch up a bit—offer you an outline of working commitment set to LEGAL contract form: the VISION OF THE FUTURE, RELATIVE TO THE PHILIPPINES. WE NOW HAVE A WORKING PARTNERSHIP WITH THOSE WAITING FOR OUR ARRIVAL WITH OUR PROGRAM AND THINGS ARE IN PLACE—NOW. IT HAS TAKEN A LONG TIME AND YOU DON'T SEE EVIDENCE YET, BUT IT IS PRESENTED AND SO SHALL IT BE. The documents were set to legal paper and signed by MY PEOPLE on Sept. 18, 1998, while my U.S. people did not even arrive to begin anything anywhere in Asia until the 12th of August that year. IT PAYS TO DO YOUR JOB AND STAY THE COURSE!

I also take note that most of you involved people working diligently on maintaining a ship—even be it a dinghy with plastic sails—don't "REALLY" keep up. How many of you REALLY know what is taking place within the Native American communities? Does anyone reading this know where you would find "The" Donald Trump these days? Do you know the outcome of the gaming laws and what that vote of the people truly means to Native American SOVEREIGNTY? Well, that is our business, chelas—not to sit around getting rich and famous or playing your favorite Monopoly game around a table in La-la-land.]

TWISTED WORDS AND GROUNDLESS ASSUMPTIONS

The complete lack of documentary evidence to support the existence of an extermination plan has led to the habit of reinterpreting the documents that do survive. For example, it is held that a document concerning deportation is not about deportation at all, but a cunning way of talking about extermination. Manvell and Frankl state that various terms were used to camouflage genocide. These included “Aussiedlung” (desettlement) and “Abbeforderung” (removal) (ibid, p. 265). Thus, as we have seen already, words are no longer assumed to mean what they say if they prove too inconvenient. This kind of thing is taken to the most incredible extremes, such as their interpretation of Heydrich’s directive for labour assignment in the East. Another example is a reference to Himmler’s order for sending deportees to the East, “that is, having them killed” (ibid, p. 251). Reitlinger, equally at a loss for evidence, does exactly the same, declaring that from the “circumlocutionary” words of the Wannsee Conference, it is obvious that “the slow murder of an entire race was intended” (ibid, p. 98).

A review of the documentary situation is important, because it reveals the edifice of guesswork and baseless assumptions upon which the extermination legend is built. The Germans had an extraordinary propensity for recording everything on paper in the most careful detail, yet among the thousands of captured documents of the S.D. and Gestapo, the records of the Reich Security Head Office, the files of Himmler’s headquarters and Hitler’s own war directives, there is not a single order for the extermination of Jews or anyone else. It will be seen later that this has, in fact, been admitted by the World Centre of Contemporary Jewish Documentation at Tel Aviv. Attempts to find “veiled allusions” to genocide—in speeches like that of Himmler’s to his S.S. Obergruppenfuhrers at Posen in 1943—are likewise quite hopeless. Nuremberg statements extracted after the War, invariably under duress, are examined in the following chapter.

[END OF QUOTING, PART 4]

Hatonn—I suggest we simply close out this section and save the headaches of possible computer shut-out. We need to do other things for a while today, and I have to ask that this team get on with the assignments and clearing that particular task rather promptly. And since we are within reach of E.J. finishing his portion, that leaves several days of recording and handling paperwork. These need to be sent to the “leadership” party ASAP, E.J., to allow merging parties within the overall group. This will also prevent a lapsing glitch in the earlier documents, as all of them can then be melded into one gathered grouping and extensions can be issued, if necessary. I do believe, however, that you have a few days before that needs consideration. We needed the “year” to see who, if anyone, was going to do anything except “wait” on us to do it for them. Patience pays, for you will now have some rather well “organized” tribal people and a security council to attend the aboriginal people. Thank you for your patience, for I certainly DO recognize the problems incurred by the year in review.

[QUOTING:]

CHAPTER 6
HE RETURNED...FOR THE GOLD?

Hatonn—As early as 1905, U.S. military experts had correctly surmised that Japan, after its unexpected victory over Russia that same year, would inevitably engage the Americans in a battle to determine who would control the Asia-Pacific region. The U.S., therefore, had all the time to set up an adequate defense system to protect its prized colony from enemy attack. Unfortunately, this was not done. The Americans were simply insensitive to the wellbeing of the Filipino people.

“Defense of the Philippines was a problem,” writes historian Stanley Karnow in his book In Our Image: America’s Empire in the Philippines. “The Army rejected Subic Bay, the Navy’s favored site, as too vulnerable to land attack, while the Navy replied that the fleet could have been strangled were it confined to Manila Bay, the Army’s preferred location.” The debate dragged on for years, but it provided the U.S. with a perfect alibi to shelve whatever plans there were for the defense of the archipelago.

When war seemed inevitable, the U.S. suddenly had a change of heart. Contingency plans were prepared in the event of open conflict with various perceived enemies. Each plan was designated by a color code. War Plan Orange, or confrontation with Japan, was designed mainly for naval battle, and contained little or no provisions for protecting inland Philippines. “To expect the archipelago to be spared in the event of war was preposterous,” declared President Roosevelt. “Congress must provide funds or vote to withdraw from the possession.”

Realizing that the Philippines was, indeed, America’s “chink in the armor”, military strategists revised War Plan Orange, ordering the U.S. garrison to secure Manila Bay until the arrival of the American fleet which would destroy the Japanese. The U.S. garrison, however, was a token force of 11,000 American regulars and 6,000 Filipino auxiliaries. This fact led not a few observers to believe that the defense plan was “an act of madness”. Even General Douglas MacArthur knew that it was nothing more than a “formula for withdrawal”.

In the next few years, U.S. military officers were to revise and refine the war scenario “more than a hundred times in board games and chart maneuvers”, according to Karnow, “but always concluding that the Philippines could not be defended, even temporarily.” And this, sad to say, has always been the unchanging U.S. attitude toward the defense of the Philippines. The former always assesses the strategic importance of the latter “solely as an adjunct to its own security”. For example, the military value of the islands diminished in 1947, after the completion of the bases pact. Two years later, China went communist with the victory of Mao Zedong’s forces, and then war broke out in the Korean peninsula. These developments “allowed” the Philippines to regain its status on Washington’s agenda—and “its fate again became inextricably intertwined with U.S. foreign policy”, Karnow notes.

In 1934, Manuel Quezon went to Washington to seek advice on how to manage the new Philippine Commonwealth created by the U.S. Congress. It was then that he asked

General MacArthur, his old buddy, to join him in the autonomous regime as military adviser. “By entrusting MacArthur with the security of the Philippines, Quezon felt that the United States was consecrated to his country’s protection. But MacArthur’s concept for defending the archipelago was at best clouded, and as Quezon discovered when the chips fell, the American commitment was murky,” Karnow explains.

Early in the war, the Philippines was still viewed by the United States as “an area that did not in 1942 possess great strategic significance from a global perspective”. So the Roosevelt Administration neglected the islands—and the “Batling Bastards of Bataan” were expendable from the beginning. And so was poor General Jonathan Wainwright.

The ambitious Japanese military adventure called for the incorporation of Southeast Asian nations into the “Greater East Asia Co-Prosperity Sphere”. But Tokyo could not make its policies work in the conquered areas. In the Philippines, for instance, Filipinos easily recognized that “co-prosperity” meant “servitude to Japan’s economic requirement”. Japanese forces plundered the country’s gold and dollar reserves to enrich Japan and substituted them with billions of worthless paper, which the Filipinos would later refer to as “Mickey Mouse” money.

“The moral fiber of Filipinos had unraveled during the Japanese occupation, when they had cheated and robbed to survive,” says Karnow. “Banditry and murder thrived, and graft and corruption pervaded in high places.” In 1947, an official inquiry disclosed that over the previous two years of the “liberation” period, $300 million in U.S. military surplus vehicles, machinery, garments and other items given to the Philippine government had been stolen.

When the war took a turn in favor of the United States in May 1942, after the U.S. Navy destroyed a Japanese fleet at the Battle of Midway, MacArthur’s forces began the mighty push to the north, leapfrogging from Guam, Saipan, Tinian and other atolls. By early 1944, U.S. military strategists began to ponder the next major target: Taiwan. The plan called for circumventing the Philippines in order to move closer to Japan.

Conventional wisdom tells us that MacArthur disapproved of this plan, warning that to bypass the archipelago would “incur the open hostility of the Filipinos and damage America’s image throughout Asia”. President Roosevelt went to Hawaii in July 1944 to confer with MacArthur and Admiral Nimitz, to resolve the issue. But once home, Roosevelt referred the matter to the Joint Chiefs of Staff. They finally approved MacArthur’s plan to land in Leyte, forgetting about the Taiwan option, after having been informed that gold bullion was being hoarded by General Yamashita, the “Tiger of Malaya”.

When the American forces entered Manila and discovered that the gold bullion had been successfully shipped to Japan, they hanged Yamashita in Los Banos, Laguna, for his war crimes, and for his alleged role in the devastation of Manila, despite the fact that “he bore no responsibility for the cataclysm—having ruled from the start against defending the capital.”

It was Admiral Iwabuchi and his 20,000 naval troops armed with automatic weapons who embarked on an orgy of atrocities, impaling babies on bayonets, raping women and beheading the men.

MacArthur’s much ballyhooed return was nothing more than a salvaging operation. The Americans were more interested in the “Yamashita Treasure” than in the liberation of the Philippines.

CHAPTER 7 YAMASHITA OR NOT

After the death of Lieutenant-General Tomoyuki Yamashita, stories about his secretly possessing one of the greatest treasures of all time quickly spread like wildfire. In 1953, President Elpidio Quirino announced that he would release some Japanese soldiers who were still imprisoned in the Philippines for war crimes, in exchange for Tokyo’s cooperation in an official probe to determine once and for all whether [or not] Yamashita had, indeed, left behind billions of dollars worth of treasure. The inquiry was to be headed by an American of Japanese descent, Minoru Fukumitsu, who worked as one of the investigators of the Allied War Crime Tribunal. Nine months later, all that was unearthed, according to Fukumitsu, was a few old coins. Before leaving the Philippines, he said that no evidence was found to show that the treasure ever existed.

In 1955, another joint operation by the Philippine and Japanese governments was started. The maritime project called for the salvaging of about 269 Japanese vessels sunk during the war. About 124 vessels were located in Manila Bay, while the rest were spotted in other parts of the country. As soon as the salvaging operations began, rumors began to spread that the vessels were filled with gold bullion and then deliberately scuttled for future retrieval. None of the rumors were ever substantiated. Undoubtedly, the rumormongers were inspired by the little-known story of the ill-fated Japanese ship Awa Maru. This could also have been the reason why Fukumitsu, whenever the question of the treasure’s existence came up, would refute the possibility with “messianic zeal”. The less people knew about the treasure’s existence, the better for Fukumitsu’s bosses.

On April 1, 1945, around ten o’clock in the evening, U.S. Commander Charles Loughlin of the submarine Queenfish sighted a Japanese destroyer, the Awa Maru, and immediately ordered his crew to fire on the enemy ship. Four torpedoes found their mark. According to the ill-fated ship’s lone survivor, a steward, the vessel that sank was a hospital ship painted with huge white crosses, which had been guaranteed safe passage by the United States. Its mission was to “deliver Red Cross packages to Allied prisoners of war in Hong Kong, Saigon, Singapore and other areas, and then pick up wounded Japanese soldiers and bring them back to Japan. The vessel, which sank 14 miles off the Chinese mainland, was on a return trip to Japan when blasted by Loughlin’s men.”

Later, it was discovered that the ship carried with it an inventory of “forty tons of gold, twelve tons of platinum, 2000 tons of tungsten, 3000 tons of tin, 3000 tons of rubber in bales, 2000 tons of lead, 800 tons of titanium, 500 tons of brass and bronze, two tons of quicksilver, about 150,000 karats of diamonds, forty cases of jewelry and numerous crates of art, all plundered by the Japanese occupation forces.” Again, Fukumitsu denied that the Awa Maru was a treasure ship.

Charles McDougald, the man tasked by the Aquino Administration to find out the truth, both about the legendary treasure of Yamashita and the Marcos gold, disagrees with Fukumitsu. In his best-seller, Asian Loot, McDougald writes:

“There are stories that a relative of the Emperor devised this grand scheme (like the Awa Maru case), along with Field Marshall Hisaichi Terauchi, commander of the Southern Command in the Pacific. The Fourteenth Army in the Philippines was a part of this command.... Supposedly the gold, silver, coins and jewels were sorted and crated at the country of origin before being shipped. This visible cargo was either destined for the Philippines or for Japan via the Philippines, since the route usually included a stop there. Most of the treasure was transported there first, and for whatever reason most of it never left there.”

In 1970, interest in the fabled Yamashita Treasure was renewed with the discovery of a golden Buddha by Rogelio Roxas, from the mountains surrounding Baguio. This time, Fukumitsu did not come out with a denial.

Rogelio Roxas, a locksmith from Baguio, started treasure hunting in 1962. He went around the provinces of Nueva Vizcaya, Nueva Ecija, Cagayan and the Pinatubo area but never found more than a few old coins and some Japanese weapons and ammunition. In May 1970, a Japanese named Fushugami gave Roger a map showing a treasure site. Fushugami claimed to have been part of a war corps of engineers who had buried some treasure at the height of Yamashita’s retreat.

Aside from this rare discovery by Roxas, no other evidence indicating that the treasure of Yamashita really existed was ever found. Clearly, the Japanese succeeded in shipping everything that was looted to Japan. It was to be Tokyo’s solid investment and contribution to the all-powerful rulers of the world, the Illuminati, which helped transform Japan into a superpower despite its humiliating defeat in the hands of the Allied Forces.

Others, however, insisted that the bulk of the missing treasure was still in the Philippines. Some linked the fabled wealth to the equally famous Marcos Gold Haul. One of those who showed exceptional interest in the search for the elusive gold bullion was Charles McDougald, who stumbled upon the story of a treasure hunt headed by Marcos while working on a book about the Filipino strongman.

“After the revolution, twenty-two Louis Vuitton suitcases were found at a home in the exclusive suburb of Dasmariñas Village. The suitcases were secured with locks and tape and appeared ready to be shipped somewhere. An inventory placed their value at P236 million ($11.5 million). In addition, a Greek jeweler was stopped at the airport before he could leave with several suitcases of jewelry, which he admitted belonged to Imelda. They were valued at P15 million ($732,000). More pieces were found stored in the vault at the Central Bank.”

Other expensive items like jars of perfumes, dresses and shoes were also included in the inventory. Today, however, no one can say whether [or not] the items are still intact. Talk has it that certain influential relatives of Cory Aquino borrowed some [pieces] of the jewelry and never returned them. [H: Wow, it begins to have some rather sinister aspects, does it not?]

McDougald was involved in quite a number of diggings overseen by the Aquino Administration, although no official admission of a gold discovery was ever issued by him or by any of those involved in the operation. Thus, no one could ascertain how much of the Marcos gold bullion still remained untouched. The Napindan Channel digging was one of the more successful operations to date.

In June 1992, industrialist Enrique “EZ” Zobel called for a press conference in Manila and revealed that Marcos had shown him a thick sheaf of gold certificates in 1988, the value of which was estimated at $35 billion, for which Marcos expressed his desire to give most of the gold back to the Filipino people. Marcos and Zobel worked closely to set up a foundation for this purpose. Unfortunately, Marcos died in September 1989, even before the papers could be signed.

The truth of the matter is, Marcos had since been certain about the rich Zobel’s close association with the Americans. So in his deep desire to make known to a few credible witnesses his intentions to give back the majority of his earthly possessions to the Filipino people, he personally hand-picked Zobel to opportunely confide his wishes to, while at the same time putting out in the open exactly how much his wealth was truly worth. In fact, he deliberately altered his own signature to mislead any possible forgers or impostors after having duly updated and rearranged all his existing accounts in 1987. The document in Zobel’s possession is just one of those with his deliberately altered signature.

Marcos’ new accounts cannot be touched without four required factors being met: Imee Marcos or General Fabian Ver for FM’s side; the Philippine Government; the new trustees and the bank concerned, with the entire palm imprint of the assigned trustees accompanying the certificate legibly signed by Marcos himself—FERDINAND EMMANUEL EDRALIN MARCOS. The Philippine government’s participation in the claim, as required by the Marcos will, will warrant the fulfillment of his will and testament: to give to the Filipino people that which is now rightfully due them.

Apart from the Zobel declaration, there were also the Hirschfield tapes, wherein Marcos clearly admitted that he still had gold buried in the Philippines valued at $14 billion. With these findings, McDougald could only comment, “Most stories about the golden treasure are fairy tales, but this one isn’t.”

CHAPTER 8 OPERATION TUNA HIGHWAY

“How could anybody have 600 metric tons of World War II gold tucked away in his basement? And 1,000 tons more in his beach cottage, and 500 tons more in the basement of a warehouse down the street? Plus still some more on four levels beneath a nearby bank?”

With these questions in mind, it is obvious that Sterling Seagrave, author of The Marcos Dynasty, is convinced that the fabled Yamashita Treasure and the Marcos Gold Haul are one and the same thing. But how could this be possible when, according to this same investigative author, “Ferdinand went into partnership with various Yakuza bosses and the CIA, helping them finance intrigues from Australia to Iran, in return for CIA help, airlifting out the contents of his vaults?” If this were so, why was there no leakage of information to the U.S. and Japanese governments or the powerful Trilateral Commission, knowing how these groups operate? The world’s financial oligarchy has been searching for Yamashita’s treasure since 1945. Wouldn’t it have been proper for them to be informed of its discovery?

“Operation Tuna Highway”, the secret hauling operation, involved huge shipments “with total sums so large that they strain credibility to the breaking point”. Why did the CIA do nothing to intercept such “Cassandra Crossings”, when they were in a good position to do so? The gold hoard was soon gradually, and in trickles, moved after Martial Law, before the strongman’s ouster from power.

At this point, we reiterate what we earlier said: The Japanese Imperial Forces successfully shipped out all of the alleged Yamashita Treasure from Singapore to Tokyo prior to America bombing Hiroshima and Nagasaki. So where did Marcos get his fabulous wealth? From the Central Bank?

“Massive secret gold shipments did take place from the Philippines during the twenty years Ferdinand was President. This gold did not originate in the Central Bank or from mines like Benguet, although it was often presented as such,” Seagrave admits. “To be sure, gold was stolen regularly from Benguet by its own employees. The original mines, situated in the crater of an extinct volcano, were plagued by theft. Miners called ‘high graders’ smuggled out the best ore, pilfering 16 percent of gold production each year and selling it to a Chinese syndicate.”

It was an entirely different ballgame in the case of the Marcos shipments, “since the quantities involved were far in excess of the Philippine government's known bullion reserves." According to Seagrave's informants, "Most of the Marcos gold seems to have been sold through Australian, American, Japanese and European intermediaries to oil-rich Middle Eastern syndicates, using devious methods designed to avoid agitating world gold prices. Other secret deals were made directly to the gold pools in Zurich and London, where they were referred to as the 'Marcos Black Eagle' deals. Still other contracts appear to have been arranged through the scandal-ridden Vatican Bank, headed by American Bishop Paul Marcinkus." Marcinkus was one of those especially assigned to secure Pope John Paul II during his visit to the Philippines in 1995.

It is no secret that prices of gold are set by the London gold cartel, operating as "The London Five". These are: (1) Moccata & Goldsmid; (2) Sharps Pixley; (3) Johnson Matthey; (4) Rothschild's; and (5) Samuel Montagu. It would have been natural for Marcos to have coursed part of his gold haul through the international gold pools. But what is puzzling is the Vatican's involvement in purely secular matters like gold shipments—unless, the papal State has interests to protect.

During his valedictory dinner with billionaire-industrialist Enrique Zobel, Marcos spoke about giving the Roman Catholic Church 10 percent of the gold for use in its foreign missions.

Why the Church of Rome, in particular? Why not his native Aglipay Church or, better yet, the Iglesia ni Kristo (INK) which had always supported him politically? Could it be true, after all, that a bigger chunk of Marcos' hidden wealth originally belonged to the Vatican?

This is no idle speculation, particularly in the light of Seagrave's findings that the Marcos gold shipments, which involved thousands of metric tons, were "mostly in bars of exotic sizes marked with peculiar symbols not normally used in the international gold trade... with the recurring 'AAA' markings."

A great deal of gold coming from Australia in the past had been poured into ingots, many of which were stamped "AAA"—a trademark familiar to expert traders in London and Australia. Also commonplace Down Under were ingots transferred there for safekeeping from the Dutch East Indies at the outbreak of World War II, stamped "Sumatra Lloyd", later sold to moneyed Australians. But Yamashita's forces never reached the Land of the Kangaroos!

Unable to hide inconsistencies in his arguments that Yamashita's treasure and Marcos' Gold Haul are one and the same thing, Seagrave tells of an encounter with an American executive who revealed to him that "the gold bullion did not belong to Ferdinand Marcos, although he controlled it." The gold bullion belonged to "twelve other countries that were trying to get it back". If this is true, Marcos was entitled to the usual finder's fee of 50 percent.

Couldn't this be the same principle being applied by the Ramos Administration in its dealings with the banking Mafia and other claimant countries in the appropriation of the proverbial pie, where every claimant can be happy once accorded its slice of the whole, thus auspiciously averting the global banking collapse and, at the same time, domestically, saving the Philippine economy?

[END OF QUOTING PART 3]

So, this "once upon a time..." story begins to take some shape, doesn't it? Well, if you don't see it yet, hold your breath, for you—if you know us—will begin to see a picture forming here.

And no, that gold did not and does not belong to any "12 different countries"—it belongs to US who left it against this day in the hour of change for a world in torment. And how is your day?

CHECK-IN:

I suppose there isn't much to check-in about, having talked to "CONTACT" yesterday. Our input about the paper and when and wheres of things is, as always, how ever it is most convenient for you; you are doing really well at running the paper. I say this so that you will realize that your decisions on the spot will be our guidelines, as well. We are in deepest appreciation for your continuing to be responsible for that gift unto us and we effort not to do anything which clouds its truth and value.

Should we have known what was happening and who were the ones on the destructive path? Yes, and unfortunately, we did. We just miscalculated in not believing that people would really cut their own throats to satisfy ego demands. And, of course, it is worse. Commander told us a while back that we had a paid agent (or paid agents) working within that group of Spectrum, and so it explains why they, without funds, can keep going at all.

We NEVER say "never", except as in carelessness—as in the start of this sentence—for I use "never" as part of my daily habits, as in "I NEVER would..." and "I will never understand...". This is not good, just as "if" becomes a negative acceptance and word, as in "giving up" somehow. Even "I never would have thought..." precludes acceptance of FACT AND REALITY. We LEARN and when we "learn well", we can use each incident—negative or positive—to move not only forward, but right to totality of success. When we finally make up our mind to create and produce—we will create and produce and do it successfully.

Commander told us: "The past is only recollection, memory; the future is anticipation; the present is awareness. Therefore, time is movement of THOUGHT. Both past and future are born in the imagination; only the present, which is awareness, is real and eternal."

He also told us to "Stop struggling against the whole universe by struggling against THIS moment. You must practice ACCEPTANCE. You must constantly accept people, situations, circumstances and events as they come into our present and as they occur in your NOW." There is nothing else and when we handle the moment—the NOW—we have handled adversity.

We have had experiences in this Southeast Asian adventure which have caused us to better trust and KNOW our backup, our guidance and our responsibilities.

E.J. and I—you know, old Ekker-Ekker—thought that if we KNOW God and Compatriots that we somehow were, are, and forever more would be, responsible for both sides of the PLAY. No, we are not. I hearken back to over a year ago, when Millers loaned some funds for continuation of operations and salaries for "some" of the staff. It was a big loan, like $50K or something. That was arranged by Gail, Kathy and Karen, and everyone EXCEPT EKKERS received it ALL. Payments were made, yes, but actually, even those payments, except that we accepted responsibility for the whole ball of wax, WERE NOT OURS—AND FRANKLY, NOT EVEN OUR "RIGHT" TO HOLD.

Then, after the fact, the Millers asked Ekkers for our PERSONAL CONTRACT TO PAY OFF THAT LOAN. Nobody had even acknowledged the loan, even after we asked that it be handled as others before it would be handled.

Oh, indeed, we will meet every commitment—and more than we ever have obligations or responsibilities—but this is BS, everybody: E.J. was Treasurer of a corporation founded by George Green, the same George Green who then stole from that corporation and has actively made every known possible effort to destroy it and all of us who have stayed the course. Now, the same has happened with the Spectrum kids, as they have written off all "rights" and have committed criminal acts in their destructive attitudes and actions. WE HAD NO GROUP, NO ANYTHING, EXCEPT A WISH TO SHARE AND PRODUCE SOME WORTHY PROJECTS—ONE OF WHICH IS WHAT WE ARE DOING IN ASIA "RIGHT NOW" TO REPAY ALL THOSE WHO HELPED GET US THROUGH.

We treasure every individual who has shared with us and those who have continued through this hardship shall have great reward, but how wonderful to be free of the overall shackles of the ASSUMPTION that somehow it is ours alone to carry, just because we WORK FOR GOD. WE ARE NOT MISSIONARIES OR ANGELS—WE ARE SIMPLY MAKING EVERY EFFORT POSSIBLE TO DO OUR PART. EACH WHO DOES THEIR "PART" WILL BE AMPLY REWARDED, ABUNDANTLY AND IN KIND. AND, THAT'S GOOD ENOUGH FOR US.

Acceptance of our project here is now amazing in scope; validation has been accomplished and progress is slow but sure. We find some "mis"adventures along the way, where some tried to get a bit more than a fair-share and it—as we told them it would—backfired on them. To us that is not new or even "news", but it seems each has to give the greed a bit of a shove FIRST before realizing that doing it RIGHT serves well, and the games don't even fly. It is hard to believe, I know, that this is truly GOD'S PLAN 2000 and not ours for the taking.

Mark and Cathy made it to Manila and called to see if we could work out something in the short time they would be here but unfortunately, as some things work out, everything possible clashed. Their Seminar is in the Shangri-La Hotel but NOT the one across the street from us in Makati, and travel time in Manila from one block to the next is IMPOSSIBLE. We finally just couldn't work out a schedule and had to drop it.

Mark sounds good—still struggling financially, as are we all. But they are so well recognized now, everywhere, as to be making amazing progress.

Mark and Cathy worked it out so some of our more involved people would be able to attend their portion of the program and, therefore, several—such as Erick San Juan and Sakiasi Genewa from Papa New Guinea, etc.—were attending. We hear that they did so and got acquainted with both the Phillips and the Seminar people and several other exceptional "contacts". They also brought back and dropped off a copy of their book, so we cancel the request for a copy from you back home. That was the major thing needing "permission". We really want to catch up any outstanding payments to them as soon as possible, for we could only make up about half last April. Rick and Gail (as managers of Phoenix Source Distributors) sold a lot of their books and didn't pay them—so they were owed over $15,000, half of which is left us owing them.

We have moved into "summer" here, whatever that means. The only thing we notice is an increase in temperature and the sparrows picking up nesting material. Otherwise—what’s to notice? This would certainly be some wondrous place, I’m sure, if the Americans and New World Order hadn’t invaded and destroyed most of it. The U.S. still runs everything, basically, and when they pulled out of Clark [Air Force Base], they left toxic materials that have devastated the people who took up living in the facility. The children born now are grossly deformed and the cancer rate is outrageous. And, of course, the U.S. just kisses them off.

Greenpeace gathered up loads of toxic material and took it to the “embassy” building and parked it there with the cleanup equipment (forklifts, etc.) and dumped it. Ah, but nobody moved anything or paid for anything—and now that toxic waste has been pilfered and scattered throughout Manila by the street people and thieves. Is this some kind of total insanity or what?

Now the big Brouhaha is over three Black sailors beating up a taxi driver and really hurting the poor soul. The guys were bombed out of their gourds on drugs and booze. It is a mess and the man won’t “just settle” as the U.S. has asked, so it will be even more ugly (as in Ugly American) before it is over. We were, however, glad to see the troops pitch in and do tents and offer medics to the evacuees of the Mayon eruptions.

We about choked here, however, when the troops got to take R&R—and right on the front page, in a full-color picture, were three strapping specimens of big Americans with prostitutes on their laps, with one of them making the sign of the goat (Satan). The restrictions were that the men had to wear a condom. Well, you know how I feel about that “safe sex”—I would like a condom gunnysack over their heads, down to their feet. My gosh, is staying alive so difficult a thing to wish for self? And what of those “old traditions” about shore leave? Are we yet PROUD, America?

AIDS is getting totally out of control here and in the Islands, of which there are nearly 8,000 (islands, that is). Fortunately, in the Muslim sectors there is non-acceptance of these behaviors, so it is kept down to some minimal level because of social acceptance or “non” acceptance of such blatant behaviors. I was exposed to a book on AIDS from the medical community—in living, terrifying color, and sick is not a good term for the tummy-tug I felt. We are not shown even a tenth of one percent of the “bad signs” of terminal disease or the symptoms. We are shown some poor, lonely skeleton of a being dying of “sickness”—well, let me tell you, and if I get “strong enough”—we’ll run some of the REAL STUFF. Anyone who tries to push off AIDS as something less than what it is, should be caused to bear the disease—especially as it hits children. You do not just “go away” and make some “final passage”—this is BAD, BAD STUFF! And, depending on the causative virus change-out (mutation), the disease is worse than any original disease as it presents, and when started from such as herpes virus, it usually moves into a blister form of sarcoma that has to be a hideous form of HELL.

You see, people share with us because we are beginning to be recognized as those who serve the people, God and goodness without political cause. So they come and they send representatives and, friends, your hearts, too, would swell to bursting at the HOPE they also bring. They will go forth and take their gifts and build fish farms to stop the “dynamite fishing”, tree farms to cover the now barren lands, get good housing and build their central villages and cities into working communities. Why, there are people over here with PROVEN inventions (just as there are elsewhere, as well) who can exchange out fuel systems to eliminate the high-priced stuff. And they have PERFECTED those nice frequency systems—but nobody has funds to complete their work and impact in a large enough way to change the system. Well, they are starting to dance awake those dreams and demand clearance of our product—PROPERLY—so they can hit the ground running. I wish every one could witness this incredible burst of anticipation and expectation. We have now passed “critical mass” in numbers and still have some “quantity” available, and still we are within our guidelines worked out at the higher councils and the lords of IMF and Feds. If we continue as are, we have plenty—and that without hurting the national economies, as in “collapse”. In fact, I would guess that a collapse was planned deliberately to get all the wealth stashed around and this is not a very nice thing to do to the Elite. But the Elite are in trouble, for they have filched, fixed the books and stolen wealth of GREAT value—and it is impossible to cover it ALL. But it takes “time”, so we try to be patient and let it unfold properly. I use the term “try” wisely—for we are as impatient as we could possibly be, and the funny thing is that it is only on the most short-term “lack” basis. Isn’t that always the way of it?

I have had better luck writing today because I finally just wore out my third (since being here) keyboard and got another one yesterday that is a tad different—but I have not (so far) had a flub. It had truly gotten to the point that there wasn’t any way to get through a writing without having to rewrite most of it three or four times to correct the “happy-face omission”, which then turned up on about the fourth try—as curse symbols. It, too, I suppose, has been a necessary experience—but I cannot imagine why.

This just came to my attention a week or so ago and I simply haven’t been willing to further write on it. So what does Commander do? Of course: He causes us to redo the Holocaust, in which I guess the only parties involved are actually “Jews”, without ability to call them anything else. Wow, and it is also the Jews who still pay the price—even if they get a handful of dollars from the chaos. This is definitely NOT a “nice world”.

As for our “help”, it appears the bankers are still hot and heavy AT IT, and now we are told things should be cleared for that little personal assistance sometime next week. We don’t hold our breath any longer because we have found that banks do NOT “release” funds; they just gather IN THE FUNDS—in this instance, as with Jeffers—bunches. Jeffers again thinks his is within a “few days”, and that is certainly enough to overlap, for when his is funded, Ekkers have quite a nice lump coming, as well as being able then to gain an additional loan if we need more. He had been ready, willing and able to use his (this) to clear our house in total, etc., but now that is beside the point, so we can go on and handle everything through legal channels. The horse is dead and recovery is rather empty considering the circumstances, and all the missing records having been thieved right out of our offices and the offices themselves evicted with the house.

So, can we make it? Make it? Whatever “it” might be, I suppose so.

I would ask, please, that John R. get us copies of the information that went out on Spectrum’s web-site regarding any people we know, of which we might be unaware. We were reminded that someone, probably Ray Bilger in his games and hatreds, put something on there about Phillips. I just want to MAKE SURE THAT NOTHING GOES ON THAT CONTACT WEB-SITE FROM OR ABOUT US. FOUR WINDS IS THAT RATFINK, BELLRINGER, AND HE LISTS “CONTACT” AND SPECTRUM AMONG HIS LISTINGS. That specific presentation had been mentioned to us a couple of times, and now I think I want to have it, if it is still available. I’m sure you have it tucked away, but we don’t get anything over here and wouldn’t bother if we had total access. We have the e-mail across the street—and that is more than we can get to every day—and often it is “down”.

In view of Ray’s joint ventures on Farm pictures and false documentaries, I hate to think what the bastard would do to others who have tried to help him. Is this “bust you for your help” not common among his ilk? I think this is typical of it often being that “free” is most often far too expensive. Bite the hand that feeds you? Wow, try chewing the arm off at the neck!

It is very tedious here to even discuss the ongoing political picture. The President (Estrada) is at a phenomenal low in ratings, the stock market is in chaos (but all is, frankly, nuts). This stock exchange [index, like the Dow in the U.S.] has only 30 companies and most of them are foreign owned or controlled. The SEC is in new hands but at war with the stock exchange, and so it goes—from the streets of Pasay to the halls of the Palace. We are NOT into politics and thus far our privacy has been totally honored. THESE THINGS ARE PATTERNED AFTER THE U.S.—EXCEPT THAT WHICH IS PATTERNED AFTER GREAT BRITAIN. IT IS JUST THAT “HERE” THERE ARE SO FEW “SOPHISTICATED” DEALERS AS TO MAKE THE WHOLE THING APPEAR AS A COMEDY FOR SATURDAY NIGHT LIVE.

The IMF and WB totally control the economy and what the Central Bank, and thus all the banks, are allowed to do—but necessity being the Mother of Invention, there are cracks in the dam. And when we are asked to “play games”, we hand them the public notices and say “no, thank you”.

Well, I have spoken too soon about the ability to write this writing without a flub because I got a different keyboard, only to go back to check the document AND TO FIND that at least three paragraphs on the end had been removed. Oh, well, I should have stopped when ahead. But since this is just a “family” letter, I will pull it off without, I’m sorry, any really Big and wondrous news. At least today didn’t produce a bunch of “happy faces”, which are not cause for any type of “happiness” and which, finally—after three or four rewrites and “fixes”—produce curse symbols, such as you would have in the cartoon pages. I don’t get time off for bad computer behavior and perhaps this IS my lesson in patience and endurance, which is considerably milder than our usual assaults.

I wonder what the world will actually DO when it is proven beyond a shadow of a doubt that there was NO HOLOCAUST, AS PRESENTED? I’m sure glad my part doesn’t come from psychic revelations. I am, from time to time, happy to see that such as George Green and then Ed Young, et al., claim the speakers—because I am left with only that old reliable One with whom I began and I certainly don’t want THEM or their spiritual impostors BACK. And just WHO IS DR. ED YOUNG, ANYWAY? Yes, I do from time to time feel a “revelation” hitting me between the ears.

Well, have to go and make something good happen! And please, just keep praying and KNOWING—for it is within grasp now, all those good things we have worked to attain. The vision is alive and well among these people and they hold their hope in their hot hands, and even if we evaporate—THEY WILL NOT DISCARD THEIR DREAMS. THAT IS COMFORTING, ABOVE ALL, AS WE HURT FROM TIME TO TIME FROM THOSE BLOWS—ACTUALLY FOR OUR OWN OLD TEAM. WELL, LET GO AND LET GOD—FOR HE WILL SEE HIS PEOPLE HOME.

Love,
Doris

Down And Personal Karmic Clearing For All

3/11/00—#1

DOWN AND PERSONAL

Hatonn—I ask to first speak of my team struggling to keep that CONTACT paper going back home. I especially, today, honor John and Jean Ray back in Illinois—FOR THE NEWS DESK. I further include specifically the ones who choose articles and writings for the paper and then get it out.

In the Philippines, here in Manila, you are now getting recognition in major information sources and are being QUOTED. I am humble in my appreciation and I wish you had words that are lavish enough to express what I feel.

Thank you for also following up on our connection with NVS, for we now have permission to utilize the information we are gaining in that forum, as well. You see, dear ones, by the time we are ready to “move on”, we will have that which we need—it is the way of Creator. Until then, the losses we sustain are a great part of our arsenal and strength in the midst of the upcoming challenges with our self-proclaimed “enemies”.

KEEP YOUR RECORDS ACCURATE AND REGULARLY DOCUMENTED! Anyone who served and switched due to any misdirected thievery will have to be responsible for those choices made. We give all individuals chance after chance for recognition of righteousness. So be it. These are but thorns and must be plucked out and tossed aside, and in some ways this is also called “let the dead bury the dead”, for LIFE GOES ON.

It seems to be time to clear some misunderstandings. I have caused people to make, and have, their choices, for “time” is now shortened as to participation within God’s GIFT of LIFE, as you recognize a working-physical experience with me. If you have no notion for me or mine, I have no notice of you; it is simple to understand.

We will be offering the program already having been drawn and in progress for our people in the Philippines. This seems to be where all our labors might actually end, for we can now count on our digits the ones who share our load. The rest “gossip” and act confused. This is false because they don’t see how or what, and within our circles of responsible parties, WE MUST HAVE STABILITY AND RESPONSIBILITY.

All who have helped will have wondrous returns and those who have turned as the serpent upon the dove shall reap their own rewards according to their proven actions. This will be no more—nor shall it be less—for the time of decision as to our Plan is now passed for those who were to the right hand of our passage, and have moved to the left.

I care naught for houses nor your bank account, for neither shall stand in the time ahead. You who only have offered advice while telling us you simply can’t help more because you need it for yourself—yet plan to claim great and wondrous rewards—shall have to face the facts of “living”. And no, this is not to complain about that which you have chosen and MUST DO to be responsible for and to self. But many have actually directly taken from, at the least, the Ekkers and then turned false information against them in order to cover their own indiscretions. Many have allowed the assaults of opposition to constrain you from even supporting the paper we have carried and birthed. This is fine, for we have neither time nor resources to continue that which is taken freely but without intent for more than evaluation. You who have stricken us from your list shall be stricken from ours. This is simple in concept and tends to increase the value of our position in just about every aspect. We have no time for our people to spend time in thought or care about these things. Let whatever unfolds, unfold.

Business will be conducted as BUSINESS, in honor and integrity—while those of you with goals set, who have been working diligently with all your focus, shall have that which you claim. We will meet all responsibilities gained through the years, and PASS ON.

And yes, dear ones, you are loved and appreciated—every last one of you—and now we must have “knowing” people on our front lines and not those who just wish-wash through the time, waiting for another to produce the miracles.

It is duly noted that some shared “thinking” that there was no real risk for anything but great return, and then lied to others and self—AND GOD—about their intentions. They now make it easy to meet obligations and move on without them. You know who you are. We walk now in the balance of Spiritual-Physical demands and that simply is the way of it.

Moreover, we need the team which has filled in and served without complaint or recognition for other positions and therefore, yes, indeed, there will be changes—toward professional business arrangements.

And yes, indeed, there will be shifting of great wealth into foreign coffers, where you might say, “How dare you!” How dare I? Where were YOU when I needed the base of operations, the backup, the availability? Oh, wow-ee. First, you will never KNOW because my team has learned SILENCE and discretion. Secondly, it is none of your business what we do and, therefore, good luck on your unwise journey with nose neighbors to points unplotted.

What are Ekkers going to do? Well, now, we wouldn’t feel comfortable to tell you that, would we? What difference does it make TO YOU? WHY? They have served honorably against all the odds that were tossed into their pathways and inner gears. Why would we tell the world what we will do now?

Ekkers ARE NOT Phoenix Institute or anything else other than themselves—period. THEY HAVE DONE THE BEST THEY COULD AND CONTINUE

TO DO THE BEST THEY CAN—AGAINST THOSE SAME ODDS AND DECLARED ENEMIES. WHAT DO THEY “OWE”? NOTHING! AND WHEN THEY UNDERSTAND THAT POSITION, WE JUST MIGHT GET ON WITH OUR WORK IN PROGRESS.

This morning—by the way, Ekkers—is just about the most important gathering of Eagles since you came to Asia. And goll-ee, how many of you know whereat is Nancy Reagan today? And why? And, oh my goodness, did Ronny have anything to do with stashes, even perhaps the Marcoses’? My, my, how the world turns.

And why do you suppose such large banks as Deutsche are merging—REALLY? The economists say it is outrageous and stupid. It is? Really? It’s the smartest thing I have witnessed in the banking industry this week. Well, it is certainly more important to Ekkers today than some pile of stuff, precious or otherwise, that Millers might have dumped via the Spectrum kids—onto a south lot in narrow-town, U.S.A.

To you who continually tell me that “You know my heart and what I can do, so when you get it together, Big Boy, call me!” Well, I have it all together—DO YOU? And oh, by the way, I DID CALL! What I really witness is that a great bunch of you are just trying to cover ALL YOUR POSSIBLE BASES, in case—! In doing that, I have to warn you that you are leaving open the one important line on the field—the foul line.

NO, CHELAS, YOU WHO HAVE WAITED HAVE PERHAPS WAITED TOO LONG TO TELL ME WHAT YOU ARE DOING, CAN DO, AND THUS AND SO. DO NOT TELL ME TO TELL YOU WHAT YOUR PURPOSE MIGHT BE AND FIT YOU IN SOMEWHERE WITHIN THE BIG WONDROUS BALLOON OF LIGHT. I ASK YOU: WHAT IS YOUR PURPOSE? WHAT IS YOUR CAPABILITY AND HOW CAN YOU ASSIST THOSE WHO ARE AGAINST US AND WEAKEN OUR VERY FIBER AND DRAIN OUR ENERGY—PHYSICALLY AND OF THE SOUL—(EVEN AFTER THE ABUNDANCE IS UPON YOU)? AND NO, WE DON’T NEED GRUBS AND PARASITES IN THE ROOT GROWTH OF OUR PLANTINGS.

A. AND E.: YOU ARE BEING SORELY USED—AND IT IS NOT PLANNED TO BE A COMFORTABLE RELEASE OF SHACKLES FOR YOU. GOD BLESSES YOU FOR YOUR WILLINGNESS TO GIVE SUPPORT AND HELP—AND NOW YOU NEED SOME HELP AND SUPPORT ALONG THE VERY SPINAL SYSTEM OF YOUR BACKSIDE. YOU HAVE GIVEN FAR TOO MUCH TO THE INTERLOPERS—AND RESPONSIBILITY MEANS EXACTLY THAT: BE RESPONSIBLE. WHEN PEOPLE ARE CAUSED TO STAND RESPONSIBLE FOR EVEN THEIR FOOD ON THE TABLE—THEY WILL CHANGE ATTITUDES, FOR PEOPLE WILL ACT AS IF YOU “OWE THEM” LONG, LONG AFTER THEY HAVE GONE THEIR WAY. AND, FURTHERMORE, THEY WILL BLAME YOU FOR EVERYTHING NEGATIVE IN BETWEEN. THEY WILL BLAME YOU, TAKE FROM YOU AND THEN TURN AND DEMAND MORE FROM YOU. YOU HAD DOGS WHEN THESE PEOPLE ARRIVED WITH THEIR ENTOURAGE OF CATS AND DUMPED THEM

ONTO YOU. EVEN YOUR ANIMALS KNOW THE SCORE—SO KNOW THAT WE WILL NO LONGER HOLD ANYTHING OPEN TO THEM AND CERTAINLY NOT IN A RESPONSIBLE POSITION. I WARN YOU THAT THE DOGS WILL ACT OUT MORE AND MORE FIERCELY, FOR “THEY KNOW THE SCORE”. THESE WERE NOT YOUR FRIENDS—EVER. YOU DON’T EVEN KNOW THEM, SO GIRL UP THINE STRENGTH AND EVACUATE SELVES. THIS IS NEVER EASY—NOT FOR YOU AND NOT FOR ME—FOR MAN HAS LEARNED A WHOLE SET OF ESCAPE ROUTES FROM TAKING CARE OF HIMSELF. WE HAVE HAD ENOUGH OF UNDEPENDABLE WAIFS. SO BE IT. YOU ARE NOT LOSING FRIENDS; YOU ARE LOSING PARASITES.

Why would I single out the above incident and people? Because they have asked for my input as to how to solve a major problem which has arisen. I have told you that I no longer deal in parables wherein my people are hurting and taking abuse “to be nice”. “NICE” IS NOT THE NAME OF THIS GAME, CHELAS. AND GOD DOES NOT INTRUDE WHERE UNASKED! AND, MORE CERTAINLY, NOT TO SIMPLY DUMP WONDROUS THINGS ONTO YOUR WAITING HEADS.

How dare I speak in this manner and who do I think I am? It doesn’t matter who I am, as a matter of fact! You wait, plan and dream on WHAT YOU THINK I AM GOING TO DO FOR YOU THROUGH MY TEAM. MY TEAM WILL MEET OBLIGATIONS AND THEN GO ON ABOUT THEIR WAY—PERIOD! YOUR WISHES ARE NOT THEIR COMMANDS.

Most of you are exactly like Dharma—who would rather work twice as hard to earn enough to pay “off” someone just to get them settled elsewhere. Healthy people, who could work just as easily as YOU, are taking up that which, at worst, should be for those in true NEED. And yes, Ekkers, this certainly DOES include you in open considerations of position. What is this? It is mankind showing true colors, my loves. They all want something FOR NOTHING and certainly without having to produce anything. Is this the way you desire your world to be?

We are all moving through the passage which you of “enlightenment” consider your “now”, which is possibly best described as KARMIC CLEARING. Let’s get it cleared, whatever you call it, so that we can come again into balance on all UNIVERSAL LEVELS OF EXPRESSION.

There are PLENTY OF JOBS AVAILABLE—it is just that nobody really wants TO DO ANYTHING, ESPECIALLY THAT WHICH IS CALLED WORK—IF—THEY CAN FIND SOMEONE ELSE TO TAKE CARE OF THEM.

By the way, I don’t care whether or not every building at the farm gets fixed up or a new roof—the property is not open for this type of pretender, for as it has already been proven: These do not become caretakers—they become the loads which break our backs. And, once ensconced, they cannot seem to be excised. And NO, Rex is not able to take on that whole load—period and end of discussion. When we can do so, we will either get rid of the farm entirely, or lease the storage areas or simply buy it and turn it over to PROFESSIONAL farmers—or use it for reserves and other focus.

Those who wish to “just participate”, please send them over to the Spectrum Group. No, I am entirely SERIOUS. Have them go and demand help—JUST LIKE SOME DEMANDED OF US.

WE CANNOT TAKE CARE OF ANY MORE. AT THIS POINT, YOU MUST ATTEND NEEDS AND STOP CONSIDERING THAT SOMEBODY ELSE CAN PROVIDE ALL THAT IS SOMEHOW LACKING. WE MUST SUSTAIN OUR TEAM OR WE SHALL NOT SUSTAIN ANYONE. I MUST HAVE GOOD STEWARDS, FOR I CAN PROMISE YOU THAT ABUNDANCE IS ALWAYS LIMITED BY YOUR OWN STEWARDSHIP OVER THAT WHICH IS.

The total lack of willingness to go attend the weeds and repair that which is in disrepair proves to me that nobody is interested in any part of that responsibility, and that includes their own assumption of emergency reserves. Are you so blind that you cannot hear the trumpets? Look around you and determine if you actually want to be stuck in the remaining years WITH YOUR HOUSEGUESTS AND RELATIONSHIPS. It is time to evaluate what SELF is REALLY WANTING TO BECOME, DO AND SHARE—AND WITH WHOM YOU WISH TO DO IT.

Will having “bunches” of “stuff” make your life more wondrous, and will you ACTUALLY feel good to just sit and count your booty? Are you sure? Well, people, you are going to find out. For, as we move along, we will re-shift and re-establish focus and movements—and we’ll see, won’t we?

I am still amused at how many actually write to me that if I will give them the winning numbers of the lottery, they will give me a tenth of the winnings. You know: that amount that you would be giving as tithe! Some have even offered in exchange to help run the business office or mail the paper. Some offer articles for the paper, as soon as we can afford to pay them for same—and, by the way, can we lend them some financial assistance until we can get around to doing that? NO!

Ekkers don’t even want to go home to witness full-bore the destruction of everything. They are lonesome and want their families and friends—nothing more. Hurt is like that, finally, readers. Home is truly where the HEART is. And their hearts are no longer residing in a seized house and property, or in the body of those who have assaulted and bashed. So, when they DO come home, it will be far different from anything before—and yes, indeed, there will be changes. They are NOT, however, longer into solving any other’s problems. A lot of beds were made without care about the repercussions or consequences of actions against them, and they have no wish to remake those beds with the thistle implants. It is assumed the occupants wanted the thorns and thistles or they wouldn’t have put them there and refused to remove them.

Frankly, they do not care about yellow-star thistle at the farm, seed grain, product or otherwise. Everyone attached has had ample time to think and choose, and we are going to MOVE ON and simply cast off the old—right after setting the records STRAIGHT and demanding restitution for the criminal actions perpetrated. Other settlements can be made, but no, we are no longer in the “make it easy” game for anyone, for NO ONE HAS MADE IT EASY FOR THEM.

“But they can’t just up and...” Oh yes, they can and shall. For they shall not intervene or interfere in MY BUSINESS! You who have denied me in your confusion and, more disastrously, denied the civil rights unto my people—shall simply have whatever you shall have.

I have offered you insight and thousands upon thousands of written pages and spoken words so that you could KNOW, and you have gone back to sleep, and argued and warred your way into a lazy stupor. So be it. There is NO GUARANTEE that this age of enlightenment shall be some “Golden Age” for those who pretend to be something in a cute illusionary rapture to avoid their just returns. YOU will do the judging of self, and wishes will flow like wine from broken casks on that day of confrontation—and, oh my, yes, you will wish you had acted differently in almost every expression of your lifestream.

YOU ARE NOW ON STAGE! AND YOU WILL PLAY YOUR PARTS, JUST AS WE HAVE PLAYED

OURS (AND MANY PARTS THEY HAVE BEEN) ON THE WORLD STAGE. YES, TODAY IT IS YOUR CHOICES—THE CHOICES THAT YOU MAKE, BELOVED—THAT WILL DETERMINE THE VERY COURSE OF THIS CIVILIZATION.

By the way, that which has been offered in prophecies is but a mere portent of things to come, chelas. I can tell you that never—in your history since you first placed feet on this wondrous planet and on the soil of this place—have you had such a challenge as you now face, and as you and your progeny will be facing in the next years ahead.

There is the potential for absolute cataclysm and, equally offered, is the potential for an absolute Golden Age. And, we will be given dispensations from the very heavens themselves and the Creator residing in the highest cause, if we but petition and put our truth to the wheel.

And why might the dire predictions have been made? Wow, dear ones, because they are and have always been—REMEMBER!

Bad news, perhaps, but you must stop pushing the river in your singular little motivations and inner dreamings. You have to paddle like heck UPSTREAM now, and this is when everyone drops away, if they can’t have jet motors to push the boat. YOU ARE NOT WILLING TO GIVE UP “ANYTHING BUT YOUR FREEDOM” TO GET ANYWHERE OTHER THAN DOWN THE DRAIN.

“Remoteness Dilution” works, chelas: As you move further from an incident in distance, in time and focus, you are less involved. Well, did you think Ekkers would not undergo the same remoteness dilution in the struggle to GET YOU WHAT “YOU” WANT? They do what they do, as do all my staff who struggle constantly to just keep that which we need. This is a GAME, but it is no longer a “me-ness” game. You only start with responsibility for self, then begin to grow—and, in the vernacular of the day, you have to “Get up off your assets, get some ‘ertia’ and get a LIFE”.

YOU are the changing element in this ongoing play of universal manifestation. The sine wave of the ages continues, regardless of the comings and goings of humanity. It is irrevocable. It can no more be stopped than the rising and the setting of the Sun or the rotation of the Earth around the Sun. These are established facts of the perception of that which is NATURAL LAW. It is MAN that must reverse the tide of this negative aspect closing in on his very existence.

And, dear ones, it might well distress you that OUR PUSH is to establish a civilization capable of coming through the changes with enough intact to maintain new generations—and that is through the inevitable return to the tribal traditions of honor and integrity. We will build up the people—we are not interested in more polluting factories for luxury, or more welfare payments available for those who could, but do not, work or feel self too “underpaid” to take a job. Ah, so be it, for it HAS come to pass as PROMISED by your seers, and you still go blindly on and on in your physical idiocy.

The economic structure cannot endure as it is, chelas. Economic debacle is foreseen. You have been warned to PREPARE. Setbacks will be sudden. Be not lulled by the heyday and hoopla. The money system, the banking houses, these cannot prevent the collapse of nations and banking houses, no matter who they be. These things today are built on shifting sands of human greed, ambition and manipulation of the lifeblood of the people of God. It MUST CHANGE INTO SOME BALANCE OF VALUE, or the entire system will simply collapse ON THE PEOPLE.

The mitigating factor in economic debacle, in nuclear war, in plague untold and death, is the nucleus of Light-bearers and the quotient of Sacred Fire they invoke. We have, then, a tripod of war, economic debacle and cataclysm. Any one of these could be sprung at any time. You must appreciate how urgent is the moment and the hour for how incredibly great is the need of response.

Friends, I have watched civilizations rise and then topple, even yet unto total destruction. I have watched mankind cycle in consciousness in cycled golden ages to primitive societies.

You have entered into this materialistic civilization, and it has cost you dearly. For you have been driven this way and that way, seeking outer things, forgetting that you once knew and tended the Truth on the altar of the heart and soul.

In these late centuries, some of you have come to be reborn to rebuild such as America as the most new of opportunities, and you have allowed her to become steeped in the slavery to the adversary of goodness and GREATNESS. Some of you have simply reentered the old Atlantean spirals of deception, the abuse of power and of money and have, therefore, turned around what might have been truly a Golden Age into a downward spiral of negative energies.

And what is offered unto some? Well, I can remind you that certain karma, if you will, of ancient Lemuria is upon most of the students who call themselves to be something from a "new" concept without the structuring of the orthodox and indoctrinated "religions". You can take that which is KNOWN and move forward without limitation, or you can say, "Oh, well...", and drift into the ethers of chaos tossing you on the tides of endless energies.

There NEED BE NO calamity. BUT, what will be is that which you make it to be. And yes, I am setting forth some pretty pushy guidelines, so that you might see your position and your possible placement for the maximum service and accomplishment. And, therefore, to you who could not abide, for instance, Dharma's and Oberli's direction: Why do you continue to annoy them NOW? Why do you attend so greatly your need to hurt and destroy them? YOU WILL NOT "BREAK" THEM, FOR EACH THING NOW ONLY MAKES THEM STRONGER AND SHOWS YOUR OWN IGNORANCE IN YOUR OWN DECISIONS. YOU STILL WANT THAT WHICH YOU THOUGHT YOU HAD FROM ME THROUGH IMPOSTORS? NO, THANK YOU.

One last thought in this writing on this matter: What you can do to work planetary change is unlimited. I SAID IT IS UNLIMITED! The infinite power of God is available to you, greater than all nuclear power or weapons. This is not some theory or metaphysical prattling. It is a LAW that you can make physical by the spiritual fire merging in the chalice of being. Ah, may you not be given to be among those who will have to say, "What might have been..."

Remember that in all areas of crisis and ultimate catastrophe, it has taken but a few Light-bearers to save a situation and but a few spoilers to ruin all for the people. Thus, understand that key figures play their parts this day, even as chessmen on the board of life. Your actions, choices, moves and decisions will truly affect the fate of your Earth and her destiny for all time to come in your perception of manifest beingness.

I would remind you of something special, readers: YOU DO NOT GET TO THE HEAVEN OF LIGHT THROUGH EGO—YOU CAN ONLY MAKE IT ON SOUL.

May you see the Light of God, and stop looking around for the lamp switch!

Marcos A Victim Of Disinformation

At the request of Commander Hatonn, we present this brief but informative writing from The SPOTLIGHT newspaper, which is apparently a reprint from a piece written around 1986. We heartily encourage support of The SPOTLIGHT for their daring, alluded to by then President Marcos in this article.

MARCOS A VICTIM OF DISINFORMATION

"Flashback" from The SPOTLIGHT, 3/13/00

Most of what Americans know about the late former Philippine President and his wife, Imelda, is not true. During the final years of the Marcos reign, which lasted from 1965 to 1986, the Marcoses were subjected to an unending drumbeat of deliberate disinformation put out by the "mainstream" media. In fact, the plutocratic interests that control the major media monopolies had joined with high-level forces to bring down Marcos.

Although The SPOTLIGHT told what was really happening in the Philippines, some readers (accustomed to smears of the Marcoses by other media) questioned our reports.

Most Americans still believe the Marcoses stole billion from the Philippine treasury to buy thousands of shoes and that honest "democrat" Cory Aquino stepped in to save the day. The media imagery was clever, but the truth is quite the opposite.

Mrs. Aquino was not a "nice housewife". She was a member of the wealthy, corrupt Cojuangco family. The family of her late husband, a corrupt, murdering intriguer, Benigno Aquino, had been puppet governors who ran the Philippines for the Japanese during WWII at the same time Ferdinand Marcos was fighting alongside American forces against the Japanese.

The Aquino-Cojuangco dispute with Marcos had nothing to do with "democratic values" but instead the profits of Cory's family's vast properties: Under the agrarian reform law instituted by the populist Marcos to help landless peasants, a portion of Mrs. Aquino's estates were to be subdivided and sold at cost to their impoverished tenants.

Mrs. Aquino, needless to say, resisted the reform measures. She and her family and their cronies were eager to gain control of the Philippines to loot it for their own interests and, along with a host of international bankers and State Department intriguers, they targeted the Marcos fortune. The truth about that fortune is quite opposite from what most Americans believe.

After WWII, Marcos and several of his army colleagues uncovered the "Yamashita Treasure"—a vast gold hoard named after Japanese General Tomoyuki Yamashita, who had buried it in the Philippines. The gold came from the conquered nations of the Pacific—some 1,000 tons worth $3 billion to $40 billion. However, much more gold remained buried and Marcos continued to search for it.

The story of the treasure was widely known. However, when the campaign against Marcos began, the media denounced the story, saying there was "no treasure" and that Marcos had "stolen" his money.

Long after Marcos fell, media reports admitted Marcos had, indeed, found a substantial portion of the treasure and that the Aquino regime was continuing to look for the balance.

There was another reason the Aquino crowd and their allies moved against Marcos: He had challenged the power of the international banking Elite.

In 1977 Marcos sent his wife, Imelda, to Washington to meet with the Federal Reserve Board in an attempt to have the American Government buy some of Marcos' own gold reserves so the proceeds could be plowed into the Philippine economy.

The Fed informed Mrs. Marcos that the Philippine Government should instead borrow the money like all Third World nations did. Marcos refused to do this, regarding the World Bank's loans as the surest way to bondage.

At this stage, the plutocrats decided Marcos was dangerous. He was independently wealthy—and beyond control—and his refusal to borrow could inspire others.

Most of what we "know" about Ferdinand and Imelda Marcos is nothing more than Establishment media hype designed to sway public opinion against them. Only in The SPOTLIGHT did you get the truth about the Marcos family and their fight to retain the sovereignty of the Philippines.

The second “crime” Marcos committed was in the establishment of a chain of “people’s banks”, where common people could borrow without collateral, pledging only their skill and labor. The idea was revolutionary when coupled with a 2 to 3 percent interest rate. The banks were an instant success and although limited to the Philippines, hit a panic button in the international banking elite. So not only did Marcos refuse to borrow the country into eternal debt, he was also lending money for next to nothing.

All of this prompted the maneuvers against Marcos. A clique of high-level intriguers in the United States national-security establishment, with ties to the banking interests and the Israeli lobby, were the prime movers in the campaign to destroy Marcos.

In its Issue No. 11 for 1986 (dated March 17) The SPOTLIGHT revealed that a circle surrounding President Ronald Reagan (a longtime friend of Marcos) kept Reagan in the dark about what was really happening in the Philippines.

These plotters had been engaged in a long-time effort to manipulate events against Marcos.

On Feb. 7, 1986, Marcos stood for reelection against Cory Aquino, the widow of his longtime critic Benigno Aquino, whose murder (by the CIA) had been falsely blamed on Marcos. The media did not report that $30 million in CIA funds were channeled into the Aquino campaign. Nor did the media report that the “heroic” Mr. Aquino had been a longtime CIA asset, who orchestrated the mass murder of his own allies in order to become the “number one Marcos critic”.

Marcos won the election, despite fraud by the Aquino forces. However, former U.S. Ambassador William Sullivan, one of the anti-Marcos plotters, declared that Marcos had stolen the election. This gave CIA operatives the cover to orchestrate a “people’s uprising” against Marcos. CIA teams inflamed Philippine mobs, sabotaged communications, bribed the police and drew disgruntled military officers into an anti-Marcos conspiracy.

Under siege, Marcos was prevented from making contact with his friend in the White House and Reagan was not told of the maneuvering by the CIA against Marcos.

Indignant, Marcos refused to surrender, but U.S. Ambassador Michael Armacost ordered U.S. forces to begin bombing Marcos’ palace.

Marcos agreed to be flown to safety to his home province of Ilocos Norte, but never agreed to resign. A U.S. plane picked up Marcos and his entourage but took them to U.S. territory on Guam. Then they were brought to Hawaii—kidnapped to prevent Marcos from fighting on his own turf.

After Marcos fell and The SPOTLIGHT requested an interview with the former Philippine leader, he personally moved The SPOTLIGHT to the top of a list of 33 newspapers that were seeking an interview.

During that historic personal interview in Hawaii (published in two parts in the Aug. 18 and Aug. 25, 1986, issues), Marcos told why he had come to admire The SPOTLIGHT so much:

We were dismayed to find out how little of the reality about our national crisis found its way into the mass media.

Even leading U.S. news organizations ran accounts that were one-sided, seldom factual and strangely repetitive, as if the reporters were following not actual events but the direction of some invisible chorus master who told them what to think.

We found in The SPOTLIGHT more than once the only straightforward and unbiased account of our Republic’s agony...

...By virtue of its independence and unbiased hard-hitting journalism, The SPOTLIGHT came to play a significant role in the recent history of our nation.

CHRISTIAN HOLOCAUST

Hatonn—I want you to be aware, as readers, that we are NOT going to play games pitting Jews against Christians, and such nonsense. These are just the games people play and the adversary plays with all humanity. We make every effort afforded to the human position to get the truth brought before you or, at the least, to tell you where you can check out the facts regarding any circumstance. I don’t even want to talk about space aliens, shape-shifters and other distracters. These are all BS to serve up sensationalism and destroy the very resource (your source) as to credibility. I am anti only one thing and confront it where it is: EVIL. I do not destroy and I do not make lies to gain an edge. If this is not acceptable to you as a reader, then this is sad FOR YOU—for I will not change to suit your wishes for SELF.

CREDIBILITY—THROUGH LINGERING STANCE WHICH STANDS ALL ASSAULTS AND THE TEST OF “TIME”—IS BUILT, AND WE WILL NOT SACRIFICE ONE IOTA OF “OUR” TRUTH TO SERVE UP ANYTHING TO ANYONE. WE WILL OFTEN OFFER THAT WHICH HAS ALREADY BEEN PRESENTED, FOR FROM THERE IS WHERE YOU MUST GET YOUR FACTUAL, MANIFEST INFORMATION. THE BROTHERHOOD OF SPIRITUAL TRUTH IS AMONG YOU TO ASSIST YOU AND THAT ENDS IT. YOU WILL DO THAT WHICH IS DONE OR IT SHALL REMAIN UNDONE.

The Jewish Holocaust IS A LIE—as presented historically by the Jews—and actually was committed by those calling themselves AshkeNAZI. If you are fooled, it is not because they didn’t tell you themselves—through the clues always present—what was taking place and has continued in the enlarging of the preposterous tales to EXTORT YOU BLIND SHEEP.

The facts are that the number of deliberately slain, so-called Christians before, during and after World War II—by ones such as your Jewish Eisenhower—is insipid and wishfully FORGOTTEN. I am going to offer, again, some bibliography material and, please, refresh your minds from that which we offered long ago through the Journals, but specifically through such as Other Losses, by James Bacque, 1991, etc.

The SPOTLIGHT brings this again to attention worthy of note in a “commentary” in the February 21, 2000 issue. And while you are trying to remember what you might know about the communist Russian regime—please remember that the Bolsheviks were ALL “Jews”, having changed their names to protect their guilt—and that holds true for such as Joseph Stalin, as well. Remember that with the overthrow of the Czar of Russia came a new type of government—and Communism was ESTABLISHED UNDER JEWISH TALMUDIC MANIFESTO. And when you get mad and call me names: REMEMBER, I DIDN’T MAKE THESE TALES NOR DO THE DEEDS—YOU ALLOWED IT AND YOUR ENEMY SERVED IT UP ON YOUR TABLE TO POISON THE WORLD.

CHRISTIAN HOLOCAUST IN PUBLIC EYE

By Louis Beam, The SPOTLIGHT, 2/21/00

AUSTRIAN ELECTION DRAGS SUPPRESSED
HISTORY OF EUROPE FROM DARK CLOSET

If you wonder why the newly elected Austrian Freedom Party is being so maligned, it’s because the party is shaking up the very foundation of power in the post-World War Two world. [H: Surely, you wondered why the world was so into the political business of little Austria lately.]

Because of the incessant talk about a “holocaust”, it is time to publicize a holocaust that few people know about. Suddenly, with the assumption of a new, democratically elected Government in Austria, the horrible truth of the aftermath of WW-II has finally broken into the front pages of newspapers throughout the world. THE AUSTRIAN FREEDOM PARTY HAS CALLED FOR COMPENSATION TO THOSE ETHNIC GERMANS WHO WERE EXPELLED AND MURDERED BY CZECHOSLOVAKIA AT THE END OF WW-II. [H: Read it again!]

This bloodthirsty extermination of ethnic Germans is surpassed in magnitude and horror only by the crimes of mass murder in the Soviet Union committed by Josef Stalin against the people of the USSR. It was there, in the horrible gulags of Stalin and in the towns and villages of the Kulaks, that the single largest mass murder of the 20th Century occurred. Under the rulership of idealistic socialists, some 30 million people were put to death by communist butchers. LEST ONE THINK ONLY COMMUNISTS AND SOCIALISTS ARE CAPABLE OF SUCH HORRENDOUS CRIMES AGAINST OTHER HUMAN BEINGS, THE NEXT GREATEST MASSACRE OF HELPLESS HUMANS OCCURRED DURING THAT SAME PERIOD BY THE SO CALLED “DEMOCRACIES” OF THE UNITED STATES, ENGLAND AND FRANCE.

The second largest mass extermination of human beings in the 20th Century did occur in what was formally the greater German Reich. But, the victims were NOT Jewish concentration-camp inmates and there were not 6 million murdered during a war. The victims were 9.3 MILLION GERMAN CIVILIANS AND PRISONERS OF WAR MURDERED BY THE ALLIES AFTER HITLER WAS DEAD AND AFTER “PEACE” WAS DECLARED.

CENSORSHIP OF GENOCIDE

Suppressing the knowledge of this post-War genocide for so long was no easy task. Those in government and the news media who did so, knew that only by creating a horrible lie could the real terror story of mass murder and genocide by the Allies be cleverly covered up. Thus, in the hearts of guilty men were born the stories of soap, lamp shades, gas chambers and the black smoke of furnaces reaching toward the heavens from crematoria. In sum, a holocaust of lies was born.

It needs to be pointed out that innocent Jews died at the hands of Nazis, just as other innocent people died at hands of the Allies at Dresden, Hiroshima and elsewhere during the War. However, the massive [lying] with intent to cover up crimes against humanity committed by the Allies begins with the fabrication of the magnitude of deaths as well as the method of death. And thus it has been 'til this day.

DELIBERATE

After the unconditional surrender of Germany, 9.3 million people were killed by the victors deliberately. Dwight D. Eisenhower ran prisoner-of-war camps where well over 1 million German men were starved to death. Then, to crown this horrific crime by the Allies, another 15 MILLION Germans were expelled from their homes in East Prussia, Pomerania, Sudetenland, Silesia and elsewhere. By the terms of the hypocritical Genocide Convention, this is genocide.

This must be called by what it is: a true Holocaust. With the election of the Freedom Party in Austria, the truth will become a topic for discussion for the first time in 55 years. And this is what terrifies the Western governments of the world. This is the reason for the frenetic opposition to the new Government of Austria. The morality and the legitimacy of all those who helped promote post-War lies are now being brought into question. The assumption of power in Austria of those not committed to lies, cover-up, corruption and historical falsehoods will shake the foundations of post-WW-II history, as well as the view of the modern, democratic states toward themselves.

Only by forthrightly facing this tremendous crime committed by the so-called "democratic" nations can we even begin to compensate for the lives destroyed, as well as ensure such an atrocious event never happens again in history.

And, readers, beware, for one of the most absurdly dangerous individuals on your globe is, yes, indeed, Madeleine Albright. In addition, to find this woman amusing is a gross understatement of conditions. Also in that same issue of The SPOTLIGHT, in the "News You May Have Missed":

THE AMERICAN WAY

When Albanian diplomats were approached by an unkempt woman in Rambouillet, France late one night during the Kosovo peace talks, they thought she was a maid. [H: Oh, indeed, this is the SAME one that they speak of as becoming President of Kosovo and also that war was dubbed, "Madeleine Albright's War".]

"Give us five minutes and please go away", one diplomat said. He was not expecting the most undiplomatic, four-letter barrage he received in return. It turns out U.S. Secretary of State Madeleine Albright doesn't like being told to wait or to go away. "Mrs. Albright started using explicit language, which the translators never could translate into Albanian," says Veton Surroi, a member of the Albanian delegation.

[END OF QUOTING]

AND JUST A LITTLE SIDE COMMENT ON ISRAEL'S STATUS AS TRUTH BEARERS:

[QUOTING from the Associated Press:]

Topic: GETTING WISE. A $450 MILLION Israeli "purchase" [H: ???] of 24 high-tech attack helicopters has stalled because the U.S. uncharacteristically refuses to give Israel software technology which has cost the American taxpayers plenty. U.S. officials fear that the Israelis would modify and sell it at great profit to Red China and other countries. [H: No, they are afraid that you-the-people would find out and that would be pretty nasty in such a political year.] As reported before, Israel has already sold billions of dollars in U.S. technology to Red China, violating promises not to do so. Meanwhile, in Israel, the first public debate on Israel's TOP-SECRET NUCLEAR WARHEADS [got underway]. ISRAEL HAS NOT SIGNED THE NUCLEAR NONPROLIFERATION TREATY AND HAS ALWAYS DENIED HAVING NUCLEAR WEAPONS. ISRAEL'S STATUS AS AN OUTLAW NATION HAS NOT INTERFERED WITH ITS MASSIVE FUNDING BY AMERICAN AND GERMAN TAXPAYERS.

[END OF QUOTING]

Be prepared, readers, for the unfolding of the lies—as the lights begin to shine on them—is going to be a terrible thing to behold.

I need to leave this task now and attend some other pressing matters. Thank you.

Zionism Is Not Judaism—Rabbis

The Zionist agenda is not shared by ALL Jews, as this article from Final Call documents.

ZIONISM, NOT FARRAKHAN IS THE PROBLEM, RABBIS SAY

By Nisa Islam Muhammad, Final Call, 3/15/00

CHICAGO—Sixteen years ago, in defense of Reverend Jesse Jackson, the sum of the relationship between Minister Louis Farrakhan and some members of the Jewish community equaled a grave misunderstanding that those Jews have wielded from then until now like a weapon to multiply a negative press campaign against the Minister. All that ended Feb. 24-27 when rabbis of the Neturei Karta Orthodox Jewish community divided themselves from that effort.

In an historic Feb. 28 announcement, the rabbis told the world of their support for Minister Farrakhan and the Nation of Islam during a press conference after the Saviours' Day weekend celebration.

"We've had hours and hours of conversations with Minister Farrakhan," said Rabbi David Weiss, "Minister Farrakhan is a strong-willed person. The Jews misconstrued his statements. They (Zionists) changed Judaism with their new style. This is Zionism. Judaism is not like this."

Rabbi Weiss led a delegation of rabbis that were invited to Saviours' Day by Minister Farrakhan as part of their ongoing dialogue and reconciliation. The rabbis spoke throughout the weekend and addressed the capacity crowd at the United Center on Feb. 27.

"Zionism is a transformation from godliness to materialism," explained Rabbi Weiss. "Know the difference between Zionism and Judaism. We are diametrically opposed. We apologize for those who attacked Minister Farrakhan. Those who attacked represent the façade of Judaism."

This example of peace and reconciliation has not been received by all as good news for the faithful. On the contrary, so-called mainstream Jewish groups have attacked this bond as insincere.

In news reports, Micheal Siegel, President of the Chicago Board of Rabbis, said that "the Jewish community is fairly well organized and there are bodies equipped to have a conversation. (Farrakhan) knows their phone numbers and the fact that he chose to go elsewhere shows the lack of sincerity" in his outreach.

But the rabbis pointed out that Minister Farrakhan has made outreach for dialogue with his attackers.

Their own relationship with the Nation began last summer when they approached the Muslims seeking help in securing the release of several Jewish rabbis held in Iran for alleged spying.

That led to additional meetings to foster a better relationship. "This Jewish community is an excellent example of how Black and Jewish relations can be," said Nation of Islam Chief of Staff Leonard F. Muhammad.

Before the 1984 elections, there was hardly a mumbling word about Minister Farrakhan and Jews. The waters were parted with the great divide when Minister Farrakhan defended Reverend Jackson against Jews seeking to "ruin" his campaign. Those Jews labeled the Minister a new "Hitler".

Although Minister Farrakhan condemned Hitler as being wicked for his deeds, somewhere and somehow that message got deleted from the media reports and all that was played over and over in the press was that Minister Farrakhan called Hitler great.

The next media distortion was the misinterpretation of the following quote: "Now, that nation of Israel never has had any peace in 40 years, and she will never have any peace because there can never be any peace structured on injustice, thievery, lying and deceit and using the name of God to shield your dirty religion under His holy and righteous name."

Again, the media had a field day with that and soon all that was reported was that Minister Farrakhan called Judaism a "gutter religion".

In their new pamphlet, "Exile and Redemption: The Torah Approach, An Introductory Exploration of Zionism, Jewish-Gentile Relations and the Recent Dialogue with the Nation of Islam, by a Friend of Neturei Karta", that remark is explained by Jews themselves.

"The media widely reported that the Minister had referred to Judaism as a 'gutter religion'. This error (or distortion) was deeply troubling to the Nation of Islam. The reason was that in Minister Farrakhan's vocabulary the phrase 'dirty religion' has a particular meaning. It referred to adherents of a faith who sinned against the tenets of that faith. The 'dirty religion' is the distorted faith which emerges from its manipulation by hypocrites or sinners.... The use of 'dirty religion' in the Minister's lexicon could have been discovered by any researcher interested in generating light instead of heat," the statement reads.

NEW TECHNOLOGIES IMPERIL HUMANITY

U.S. Scientist, 3/13/00

SAN FRANCISCO (Reuters)—The co-founder of one of Silicon Valley's top technology companies believes scientific advances may be ushering humanity into a nightmare world where super-smart machines force mankind into extinction.

In a heartfelt appeal published in the April issue of Wired magazine, Sun Microsystems, Inc. (SUNW.O) chief scientist Bill Joy urges technologists to reconsider the ethics of the drive toward constant scientific innovation.

"We are being propelled into this new century with no plan, no control, no brakes," Joy writes. "The last chance to assert control—the fail-safe point—is rapidly approaching."

Joy's article comes as a rare cry of caution in an industry that thrives on relentless and often unplanned advances and is now riding the boom of a "new economy" expansion attributed to technological progress.

The warning is all the more disturbing because of the author's own impressive tech credentials. A leading computer researcher who developed an early version of the Unix operating system, Joy has more recently pioneered software technologies like Java and was Co-Chairman of a presidential commission on the future of information technology.

Joy's fears focus on three areas of technology undergoing incredibly rapid change.

THINKING, BREEDING ROBOTS

The first, robotics, involves the development of "thinking" computers that within three short decades could be as much as a million times more powerful than those now available. Joy sees this as setting the groundwork for a "robot species" of intelligent robots that create evolved copies of themselves.

The second, genetics, deals with scientific breakthroughs in manipulating the very structure of biological life. While Joy says this has led to benefits such as pest-resistant crops, it also has set the stage for new, man-made plagues that could literally wipe out the natural world.

The third, nanotechnology, involves the creation of objects on an atom-by-atom basis, which before long could be harnessed to create smart machines that are microscopically small.

All three of these technologies share one characteristic absent in earlier dangerous human inventions, such as the atomic bomb: They could replicate themselves, creating a cascade effect that could sweep through the physical world in much the same way a virus spreads through the computer world.

"It is no exaggeration to say we are on the cusp of the further perfection of extreme evil," Joy writes. "An evil whose possibility spreads well beyond that which weapons of mass destruction bequeathed to nation states on to surprising and terrible empowerment of extreme individuals."

OTHER INDUSTRY LEADERS NOT CONVINCED

Executives attending PC Forum, a technology industry conference in Scottsdale, Arizona, had mixed reactions to Joy's grim view on technology.

"You can't argue with the incredible improvements in thought, civilization, productivity. The world is changing and I think people would say dramatically for the better," said Michael Campbell of SAP America Inc., which develops software to help corporations manage their business.

Steve Kirsch, the founder of Infoseek and now Chief Executive of a new start-up called Propel, said he saw many instances where science and research [are] not moving fast enough, such as in the area of embryonic stem cell research, where the U.S. Government is too restrictive.

"If anything... we are moving the opposite way, not faster," he said. "Lives are going to be lost."

But others said Joy's fears of technology running out of control were not entirely off the mark.

"From the sense that technologists fail to fully study or bother to understand the long-range implications of technology, Bill Joy is right on the mark," said Steve Larsen, Senior Vice President of marketing at Net Perceptions, which develops personalization software for the Internet.

KACZYNSKI'S IDEAS

Joy says his new, darker vision of the potential threat to humanity posed by technology—one he notes is shared in part by convicted Unabomber Theodore Kaczynski [who, as we know, was NOT the fictitious Unabomber]—has led him to reconsider his own contributions to the field.

"I have always believed that making software more reliable, given its many uses, will make the world a safer place," Joy writes. "If I were to come to believe the opposite, then I would be morally obligated to stop this work. I can now imagine such a day may come."

Joy does hold out some hope, saying humanity's effort to control nuclear and biological weapons was evidence of the strength of the species' self-preservation instinct.

But he urges a wider dialogue on the implications of new tech advances and specifically asks that they be incorporated into the program at the annual Pugwash Conferences, which began in 1957 as a forum for scientists to discuss the threat posed by nuclear weapons.

"The experiences of the atomic scientists clearly show the need to take personal responsibility, the danger that things will move too fast, and the way in which the process can take on a life of its own," Joy says. "We can, as they did, create insurmountable problems in almost no time flat. We must do more thinking up front if we are not to be similarly surprised and shocked by the consequences of our inventions."

[JR: The race forward in research and development in computer technology and microbiology sciences is like a train speeding faster than tracks and bridges can be built ahead of it. They are so focused on their glorious event horizon for prestige, material gain and the almighty challenge that almost everything on either side is but a blur. We occasionally need to slow down, pull over, get refocused and verify that the direction in which we are traveling is really taking us where we need to go.]

BRITISH SOLDIERS WERE CHEMICAL "GUINEA PIGS" DURING GULF WAR

By Kathleen Nutt, Sunday Herald—Scotland, 3/5/00

The Ministry of Defence has been accused by a leading Government adviser of deliberately using British troops as "experimental animals" during the Gulf War.

According to Professor Malcolm Hooper, a leading Government adviser in chemical warfare, the MoD issued soldiers a cocktail of drugs and vaccines to see how they would interact with enemy nerve agents and what effect they would have on people.

Professor Hooper last night launched a fierce attack on the "failure" of both Conservative governments and the current Labour Administration to properly research drugs and vaccines given to troops and monitor the effects on them.

"At one stage, I was willing to believe that the MoD had tried to do their best for the troops, but now I feel they were actually quite prepared to sacrifice the troops as experimental animals so they could understand better how we might cope with a chemical and biological weapons war," he said.

He added that the successive governments should have done three things: monitor soldiers while they were taking the drugs, carry out regular follow-up checks in the years after the war, and carry out medical examinations of sick veterans. None of these measures were taken.... "They are just quite prepared to write these lads off in order to understand what happens in a chemical and biological war."

Professor Hooper, Emeritus Professor of Medicinal Chemistry at the University of Sunderland, said studies in the UK and U.S. had already proven that the drug pyridostigmine bromide, taken in tablets by troops three times a day for between eight and 10 weeks, had caused damage to the nervous system. Despite this research, the Government had not carried out any clinical examinations on the sick veterans, he said.

The tablets were taken by 300,000 British and American troops in 1991 as a protection against nerve-gas attack. Symptoms experienced by 6,000 of the 47,000 British servicemen and 100,000 Americans nine years after the war include chronic pain, digestive problems, nausea, skin rashes, aching joints, memory loss, depression, hair loss and attention-span difficulties.

The National Gulf Veterans and Families Association estimates that 400 UK veterans have died since 1991 as a result of being forced to take the chemical cocktails and exposure to pesticides.

In October last year, the Government promised to consider a Pentagon-funded report, which said that the tablets could have been the cause of the illnesses suffered by the veterans.

Scots veteran Terry Gooding, a former Royal Navy Chief Petty Officer who served in the Gulf from December 1990 to May 1991, has subsequently experienced many of the symptoms of the illness, including memory loss, chronic fatigue and skin rashes.

Gooding, who last week handed in a petition to Downing Street calling for a public inquiry into Gulf War Illness, said it was shameful that the Labour Government had failed to sympathise with veterans' demands.

"I took the tablets and had the vaccines," he said. "We weren't told of any risks. We weren't told they were experimental and we thought they would help us. I think the feeling is that people serving in the armed forces can just be used as experiments. Now we are dying at one a week and still the Government is doing nothing.

"My personal feeling is that the drug cocktail and the vaccines, together with the sulphur from the oil fields and the depleted uranium from the granules left after ammunition is fired, weakened our immune systems."

Professor Hooper said he was disappointed that the Labour Government had taken no more action than the Tories, despite its pledge for openness, and he claimed commercial interests were dictating the MoD's political agenda.

"The MoD has fed ministers deliberate untruths—that was the case with Nicholas Soames, who said there were no organophosphate insecticides used in the Gulf War. That was not true and, of course, he had to retract that," he said.

Asked why he thought the Government appeared to be taking so little action, he said: "I don't think it's money, I think it's because they are afraid that the military will lose face, and that the industrial lobby which is responsible for depleted-uranium munitions and the manufacturer of the tablets will lose out."

An MoD spokesman said there was no conclusive evidence linking the illnesses to service in the Gulf, but the Ministry would keep an open mind on any new medical research or evidence.

[JR: The U.S. and British governments have no defense to explain their use of experimental drugs and vaccines on non-informed, non-consenting military personnel. What a horrible realization that OUR Government would conduct secret medical research on its own troops just to learn how fast a man will die from their manufactured "weapons of mass destruction"—and they don't even follow up their experiments with medical treatment.]

SPIRAL OF VIOLENCE BLAMED ON PROZAC

By Anthony Browne, The Guardian—UK, 3/12/00

Prozac, the world's best-selling anti-depressant, is being blamed for turning healthy, placid people violent. It is thought to have led to crimes that include murder.

Clinical research to be published soon will show that up to one in 10 adults who take Prozac can become belligerent and pose a risk to others and themselves.

The study is the strongest vindication yet of mental health campaigners, who claim dozens of people have been wrongly imprisoned because of the effects Prozac has had on their behaviour. In the U.S., school shootings have been linked to a number of children given Prozac and other anti-depressants.

In the first clinical trial of its kind, Dr. David Healy, Director of the North Wales Department of Psychological Medicine at the University of Wales, gave Prozac to a volunteer group of mentally healthy adults and found even their behaviour was affected. He said: "We can make healthy volunteers belligerent, fearful, suicidal, and even pose a risk to others."

Healy says between one in 20 and one in 10 people who take Prozac can be affected by akathisia, whereby they become mentally restless or manic and lose all inhibitions about their actions. "People don't care about the consequences as you'd normally expect. They're not bothered about contemplating something they would usually be scared of," he said.

The study is a potentially devastating blow for U.S. drug company Eli Lilly, which has made millions from Prozac. In a statement last night, the company said: "Since its discovery in 1972, Prozac has become one of the world's most studied drugs. An extensive review of scientific evidence has demonstrated no causal link between Prozac and aggressive behaviour." Previous studies linking Prozac to violence have been discredited because aggressive behaviour could be caused by patients' personality disorders, not the drug. Healy's study is the first to show Prozac can affect even healthy individuals.

Pam Armstrong, co-founder of the Counselling and Involuntary Tranquilliser Addiction help line, said: "I have come across a huge number of cases, from bizarre behaviour to aggression."

Stephen Bryson, a surgical nurse, was prescribed Prozac after a close friend died, and his associates were alarmed by his increasingly bizarre behaviour. "I was swearing, touching friends up in private parts and would pick arguments for the sake of it and threaten their lives. I ran around town stark naked and ran up debts of £10,000. I became quite violent," said Bryson. "I had no awareness of... right from wrong. I was high as a kite."

Bryson eventually attacked his partner with a knife. "He was saved by the bell. If the phone hadn't rung, I would have killed him." Bryson was given a 12-month jail sentence. Three months after ditching Prozac, he was "back to my old self".

Ramzia Kabbani, who set up the Prozac Survivors Support Group a year ago, said: "People are going to prison for what amounts to medical negligence. If they're throwing the book at vulnerable individuals, they should be throwing the book at the doctors who prescribe the medicine, as well."

In the U.S., the widespread use of anti-depressants and easy availability of guns is thought to be responsible for mass killings. Eric Harris, 18, from Columbine High School in Colorado, who last year shot 12 fellow students and a teacher, had been taking Luvox, similar to Prozac. In 1998, Kip Kinkel, 14, killed his parents before going on a shooting spree at his high school in Springfield, Oregon, killing two and injuring 22. He took Prozac.

Last month, a U.S. judge in Connecticut acquitted a bank robber who blamed his behaviour on Prozac. In what is thought to be the first ruling of its kind, Superior Court Judge Richard Arnold freed Christopher DeAngelo, a 28-year-old insurance agent, because the defendant was unable to appreciate his actions were wrong. Defence lawyer John Williams said: "This was someone who was driven to commit crimes because of prescription drugs."

Eli Lilly said it has been successful in helping defeat 70 other cases where alleged criminals blamed their behaviour on Prozac. However, Healy said: "Eli Lilly is legally trapped. They might like to admit that Prozac causes violence, but they could open themselves up to all sorts of claims."

[JR: Here is proof from outside sources that Prozac is a drug that turns normal, rational people into Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. The American drug companies have duped the public into believing that a pill is the end-all to our problems and now they have our children hooked.]

THE LOWDOWN ON ASPARTAME (NUTRASWEET)

By Dave Rietz, Sunday-Times UK, 2/27/00

Artificial sweeteners are marketed with the promise of weight control, and the vast majority of people who consume them do so to either lose or avoid gaining weight. Folks, this is a fraud of gigantic proportions.

From 1960 to 1976, there was virtually no change in the number of Americans who were overweight: roughly 24 percent of the population. However, from the mid-1980s to the present, this number has more than doubled to 54 percent! This coincides with the massive infusion of non-caloric chemical sweeteners and sugar-free "diet" foods that are eaten by close to three-quarters of the adult population.

Although several factors contribute to these alarming statistics, I am convinced that our blind acceptance of the most popular of these artificial sweeteners, aspartame (NutraSweet, Equal, Spoonful), plays a significant role in our current weight problems. Far from helping us lose weight, aspartame has been proven to increase appetite, especially cravings for sweets. Imagine "diet" products that help you pack on extra pounds! And aspartame's downside doesn't end with weight gain: This sweetener is associated with multiple health problems.

Aspartame May Cause a Variety of Diseases

Since aspartame came on the market in 1981, it has accounted for more than 75 percent of the complaints reported in the FDA's Adverse Reaction Monitoring System. The most common adverse reactions attributed to aspartame are headaches, dizziness, attention difficulties, memory loss, slurred speech and vision problems. This cluster of symptoms has become so common that it is actually referred to as "aspartame disease".

Even more serious disorders have a suspected link with aspartame. Is it an accident that the incidence of brain tumors has increased by 10% since 1975? John W. Olney, MD, of the Washington University Medical School in St. Louis, believes there may be a link between the two. In an article published in The Journal of Neuropathology and Experimental Neurology, he notes that animal studies reveal high levels of brain tumors in aspartame-fed rats. According to Dr. Olney, recent findings show that aspartame has mutagenic (cancer-causing) potential, and the sharp rise in malignant brain tumors coincides with the increased use of aspartame.

Could serious seizures and vision loss somehow be associated with the sweetener? The U.S. Navy and Air Force published articles in Navy Physiology and Flying Safety with this warning: "Several researchers have found aspartame can increase the frequency of seizures, or lower the stimulation necessary to induce them. This means a pilot who drinks diet sodas is more susceptible to flicker vertigo, or to flicker-induced epileptic activity. It also means that all pilots are potential victims of sudden memory loss, dizziness during instrument flight and gradual loss of vision.”

What about multiple sclerosis, chronic fatigue, rheumatoid arthritis, depression and other mood disorders? I have reviewed scores of documented cases of patients with symptoms so severe that they were mistakenly diagnosed with one of these conditions, only to have all signs of disease completely vanish after getting off aspartame.

The FDA Ignores Safety Concerns

Yet the FDA has chosen to turn a deaf ear to repeated requests by scientists, physicians and consumers to review aspartame’s safety.

Aspartame has spelled trouble from the get-go. The unique property of this chemical, which is 200 times sweeter than sugar, was accidentally discovered in 1965 by a chemist trying to develop an ulcer drug. Although the FDA rescinded its initial approval because of studies showing that it caused seizures and brain tumors in lab animals, the agency eventually capitulated to political and monetary pressure and in 1981 gave aspartame the stamp of approval. In doing so, this bureaucracy overrode the 3-0 decision of a Public Board of Inquiry, which had reviewed the scientific data and had recommended delaying approval pending further studies on the sweetener’s link with brain cancer.

In the intervening years, safety concerns have mushroomed. Ralph G. Walton, MD, Professor of Psychiatry at Northeastern Ohio Universities College of Medicine, reviewed all the studies on aspartame and found 166 with relevance for human safety. Every one of the 74 studies funded by the aspartame industry gave it a clean bill of health, while 92 percent of those independently funded revealed safety problems.

Aspartame Can Upset Brain Chemistry

Once you understand a bit about the chemistry of aspartame, you’ll see why it can cause so many problems.

Aspartame is comprised of two amino acids: aspartic acid and phenylalanine. Aspartic acid acts as an “excitatory” neurotransmitter, or chemical messenger, in the brain, stimulating neurons to fire. Problems can arise when aspartic acid is out of balance with “inhibitory” amino acids that calm things down. Phenylalanine also easily enters the brain, where it is transformed into neurotransmitters that can further interfere with normal brain function.

This is a likely reason why aspartame lowers the threshold for seizures, mood disorders and other nervous-system problems. This altered brain chemistry may also be responsible for the addictive nature of aspartame. Some patients report that getting off diet soda takes more willpower than giving up cigarettes!

A Little Moonshine For You?

The remaining component, which makes up 10 percent of aspartame, may be the most dangerous part. It is a methyl ester that breaks down after ingestion into methanol, a nervous-system toxin also known as free methyl alcohol or wood alcohol. Methanol is extremely harmful to the optic nerve. A main ingredient in “moonshine”, it was notorious during Prohibition for causing blindness. Methanol is rapidly released into the bloodstream, where it is further metabolized into other harmful components, including formaldehyde (a known neurotoxin and carcinogen) and formic acid (the poison in ant stings).

Is it any wonder that many of the symptoms of “aspartame disease” are neurological and visual? Drinking a diet soda or two (and I’ve had patients who drink at least a liter a day) delivers a powerful chemical rush with decidedly negative effects. With this kind of questionable history, who would want to consume this artificial chemical, particularly when there are natural and healthy sweeteners available?

Recommendations

Please take the warnings in this article very seriously. Although some people are much more sensitive to aspartame’s adverse effects than others, damage is likely cumulative. Aspartame is particularly harmful to children and the developing fetus. I strongly urge anyone with an aspartame “habit” to get off this harmful sweetener. For more information on the downside of aspartame, visit www.dorway.com or send a self-addressed envelope with six stamps to Betty Martini, Mission Possible International, 9270 River Club Parkway, Duluth, Georgia 30097.

Don’t trade one bad habit for another by switching to sugar-laden drinks and sweets. Avoid most bottled or canned sodas, teas and juices altogether. If they don’t contain an artificial sweetener, they’re loaded with some kind of sugar. Your beverage of choice should be water. (Try perking it up with a slice of lemon.) Sparkling water, diluted fruit juice, and homemade iced tea flavored with the herbal sweetener stevia are other options. A few drops of stevia also nicely sweeten hot tea, coffee, cereal, yogurt and other foods. Stevia is sold in health food stores or may be ordered from Amai Health (877-989-9954) or Wisdom of the Ancients (800-899-9908).

[JR: Most of the studies done were by—or paid for by—the companies that manufacture these sweeteners. Stevia is a natural sweetener and definitely worth looking into.]

KOSOVO REBELS MASS ARMS —YUGOSLAV ARMY CHIEF

Europe On Line, 3/9/00

BELGRADE, (Reuters)—Yugoslavia’s Army chief said on Wednesday that Kosovo Albanian “terrorists” were massing weapons on the Kosovo-Serbia border to spread conflict to Serbia and provoke international intervention.

General Nebojsa Pavkovic said that together with their supporters in the towns of Bujanovac, Presevo and Medvedja, just inside government-controlled Serbia, the “terrorists” wanted to provoke a reaction by the Serbian security forces.

“Their plan is for this to create conditions for international intervention, allegedly to protect Albanian rights and freedoms,” Pavkovic was quoted by Tanjug news agency as saying in an interview with Thursday’s edition of the weekly Vojska.

“With this aim, and under KFOR protection, they are massing large quantities of weapons near Kosovo’s administrative border with Serbia, and building facilities for attacks and protection,” Pavkovic said.

Pavkovic said the Albanians were organising military training on surprise attacks, ambushes and diversions.

Leaders of the now-disbanded ethnic Albanian Kosovo Liberation Army have denied links with a shadowy armed group that has emerged in Albanian villages inside government-controlled Serbia.

Local Albanians and Serbs both fear a rerun of the Kosovo conflict in the area after a series of clashes between Serb police and the rebels, who say they are only protecting their villages from alleged police brutality.

Pavkovic added there were a number of illegal organisations working to expel Serbs from Kosovo through murders, abductions and other crimes and that they also planned to conduct terrorist actions outside Kosovo.

Deputy Serbian Prime Minister Dragan Todorovic, a member of the ultra-nationalist Radical Party, said armed Albanians in Kosovo and nearby villages in government-controlled Serbia were spreading panic and also accused the West of backing them.

“The Serbian Government expects ethnic Albanian terrorists to intensify their terrorist activities at the break of spring, with the help of KFOR and UNMIK, especially in Bujanovac, Presevo and Medvedja,” Todorovic said.

“They are doing this to destabilise us in their attempts to create a so-called Greater Albania,” Todorovic added.

Belgrade accuses Kosovo’s separatist leaders of seeking to unite the province with neighbouring Albania.

The NATO-led KFOR peacekeeping force and the United Nations Mission in Kosovo (UNMIK) have expressed concern over the clashes inside Serbia and stepped up controls on the border.

[JR: Well, how else could NATO win this intervention conflict but through subversion and working with the Albanian terrorists/separatists through covert actions? This whole scenario is only to wrench a greater Albanian territory from Yugoslavia with the protection and aid of NATO and the UN. I guess the KFOR peacekeepers are there as observers to ensure the desired outcome.]

CHECHEN LEADER MOCKS RUSSIANS

By Colin McMahon, Chicago Tribune, 3/9/00

RIGA, LATVIA—Chechen President Aslan Maskhadov said Wednesday that a furious counterattack by his separatist rebels had inflicted heavy casualties on Russian troops, and he accused Russia’s generals of lying to their people about an imminent victory in the five-month Chechen War.

Speaking for the first time since Russia’s claim to have vanquished Chechen forces, Maskhadov dismissed Russian assertions that his small but hardened rebel force was on the verge of collapse.

Using a satellite telephone link from his mountain hideout, he said separatist fighters had retaken parts of the strategic Argun Valley in Chechnya’s south. He renewed calls for international help in negotiating an end to the conflict.

“All these comments of Russian generals that they have won the war are pure lies,” said Maskhadov, a former Soviet Army Colonel and Commander in Chief of the Chechen forces. “On the contrary, we retook several villages, and there is heavy fighting going on around other villages.”

The Chechens often overstate their successes, yet the deaths of more than 100 Russian soldiers over the past week alone provide evidence that Maskhadov’s statements are not merely battlefield bravado.

Russian media reported that a Chechen ambush wiped out nearly an entire company of elite paratroopers from the northwestern Russian town of Pskov—from 60 to 80 men—late last week in the Argun Gorge. Also last week, at least 20 Interior Ministry soldiers died in an ambush on the edge of Grozny, the Chechen capital.

Just 10 days ago, Russian generals were promising a quick end to the War. They had chased the more than 2,500 remaining rebels out of Grozny and into the mountains. They had pushed them out of Shatoi and other mountain towns, where the militants had dug in against Russian planes, tanks and artillery.

The Russian force of about 95,000 was inflicting heavy losses on the rebels, according to independent accounts.

Yet the Chechens have been able to lash back. Over the past few days they have recaptured Komsomolskoye and other villages that were considered firmly in Russian hands.

Now Russian officials acknowledge that they are racing time.

The Russians want to wipe out the rebels before the spring thaw comes to the Caucasus Mountains. That would open snowbound passes to the fleeing fighters and provide new hiding places in forested areas.

Maskhadov took a chance in phoning two Western correspondents from his mountain base. During the last Chechen War from 1994-96, Russian forces killed the Chechen independence leader Jhokhar Dudayev with a missile strike after locking on to the signal from his satellite phone.

“It is a risk,” Maskhadov said, adding that he must keep on the move constantly to avoid Russian capture. “But it is the only way to communicate our views about what is going on.”

Russian forces have severely limited independent media access to Chechnya. That policy and Kremlin efforts to control reporting of the war in the Russian media have helped sustain the popularity of the conflict among the Russian people.

Partly as a result, acting President Vladimir Putin also remains widely popular. The architect of the Chechen War, Putin is expected to win in presidential elections scheduled for March 26. The Chechen offensive may be timed to coincide with that vote, though Maskhadov stopped short of making that direct link.

“The armed Chechens are trying to demonstrate that they are still capable of fighting, that they are ready to continue the War,” said Andrei Babitsky, a reporter for Radio Liberty who was detained by Russian forces in Chechnya, traded for Russian prisoners of war and only recently released in Moscow.

He retains strong sources within the rebel movement. “The rebels’ perception of reality is quite distorted,” Babitsky said. “They believe that the entire international public and journalists are watching the situation in Chechnya and can reflect it properly. But this is not so.”

In the interview Wednesday, Maskhadov repeated his willingness to negotiate with Moscow and called on international mediators to play a role. But he also criticized the international community for not taking a harder line with Moscow over the way Russian forces are prosecuting the War.

Russian warplanes and artillery have killed thousands of civilians by most independent estimates. Human-rights groups and Chechen civilians have also accused Russian forces of gross rights violations, including torture of detainees and summary executions.

Moscow fully rejects any outside role in settling the conflict, which began in October after Russian troops drove Chechen fighters out of the neighboring republic of Dagestan. Moscow also blames the Chechens for a series of apartment-building bombings that killed nearly 300 people in Russia last fall.

Maskhadov and other Chechen fighters deny any role in the terrorist bombings.

Though Maskhadov was elected Chechnya’s President in 1996 by a large margin, Moscow deems him a criminal and his presidency illegitimate. Russian officials say they are willing to find a political solution to the Chechnya conflict but cannot negotiate with Maskhadov. They demand that he turn over to Moscow the Chechen warlords Khattab and Shamil Basayev.

Maskhadov said he has no intention of doing so. Khattab and Basayev command two of the most experienced units of the Chechen forces, and Maskhadov said he remains in close contact with them while plotting war strategy.

“I have given the order for a full guerrilla war across all of Chechnya,” Maskhadov said. “Now you are beginning to see the results.”

“We have enough fighters and we have enough guns. And if we run out of weapons, we can buy more from the Russians. As long as there are Russians on Chechen territory, we will not lack anything.”

The practice of Russian soldiers selling their weapons to Chechen forces was well documented in the last Chechen conflict. Maskhadov and other rebel leaders say this conflict is not different.

[JR: This is another war controlled by the “media” so as to minimize the realities of the raging conflict still going on. Victory cannot be assured, as the hatred by Chechnya will be borne by the coming generations and will haunt Russia for many years to come.]

FEDS SPIRITED BODY, DOOR AWAY AT WACO, TROOPER SAYS

NewsMax.com, 3/10/00

In startling testimony, a Texas state trooper told lawyers that what appeared to be a body and a missing door were spirited away from the Waco scene just before troopers took over the Mt. Carmel site from the FBI.

Sgt. David Keys also stunned lawyers and Government attorneys in the wrongful death case filed by survivors of the Branch Davidian sect when he testified that he overheard FBI agents talking about a “fire fight” taking place in the rear of the compound. The Government has insisted there had been no gunfire in that area, despite infrared evidence indicating there had been.

Keys, a 17-year veteran of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said that about 4 p.m. on April 19, over an hour before Texas Rangers took possession of the Mt. Carmel site, his superiors ordered him to permit a white van to enter the area “to pick up a body”, according to James Brannon, an attorney for the plaintiffs. The trooper said he saw an empty body bag inside the van.

When the white van left the compound, Keys said he saw the body bag containing what looked like the shape of a corpse, Brannon said. [This could have been how David Koresh was removed from the scene—alive.]

“The van that Keys saw could only have been kept secret, at that level, by the military,” Brannon told reporters. “If somebody was killed, they could just say that he was killed in a training accident. It’s a mystery who it was and we’re waiting for somebody in the Government to tell us.”

“Keys also says that he saw something as big as a door being loaded into a U-Haul truck. One of the doors from Mount Carmel has been missing since the day of the fire—the door that might prove that during the Feb. 28 raid, the ATF fired first,” Brannon added.

Keys also testified that earlier on April 19, 1993, while he was at the DPS Waco commando center, he overheard an FBI agent say that a “firefight” was under way at the back of the Mount Carmel compound, Brannon said.

It has been alleged that the feds fired upon the rear of the Mount Carmel site in the final moments of the tank-and-tear-gas assault of April 19, in what may have been an effort to prevent any of the Davidians from leaving the inferno alive.

[JR: Don’t expect the government’s enforcement agencies to admit any of this, as they have a trial in May and will continue presenting their lily-white version through their media.]

LONG SUPPRESSED REPORT SAYS RENO COVERED-UP FOR WHITE HOUSE

NewsMax.com, 3/10/00

A blistering report, long suppressed by Attorney General Janet Reno, says that special treatment was given President Clinton, Vice President Al Gore, First Lady Hillary Clinton and former White House aide Harold M. Ickes during the investigation of campaign-finance irregularities.

In an edited version of the 94-page report written by former task force supervisor Charles G. LaBella and obtained by the Los Angeles Times, the Justice Department official charged that Reno and her cohorts used double standards in the appointment of independent counsels—naming them to investigate Cabinet-level Clinton Administration officials, while refusing to refer similar or stronger cases involving top White House figures to outside counsels, according to the Times.

While failing to accuse the President, Vice President, Mrs. Clinton and Ickes of committing crimes, LaBella’s report cited questionable actions by them and “a pattern of conduct worthy of investigation” by an independent counsel.

He cited Administration dealings with various Asian-American fundraisers for the Democratic National Committee as well as with wealthy foreign nationals that, he said, “suggests a level of knowledge within the White House—including the President’s and First Lady’s offices—concerning the injection of foreign funds into the reelection effort”.

Noting that “half of the report reviewed by The Times was excised to protect grand jury secrecy and ongoing investigations”, the newspaper reported that “Most of that missing information relates directly to the task force cases against Clinton, Gore, Ickes and Mrs. Clinton.”

In one instance, documents obtained by the Times show, task-force investigators eyed the timing of Clinton's appointment of friend and fundraiser Yah Lin “Charlie” Trie to a United States-Pacific Trade Advisory Panel in 1996 with suspicion. Trie was appointed after he carried $460,000 in donations from a Taiwan-based Buddhist sect to the President's legal-defense trust fund....

...Documents show that Ickes and Mrs. Clinton met with a member of the defense-fund trust to talk about Trie's donations, and both the President and First Lady agreed that the money should be returned.

“According to the report, none of the three—the President, Mrs. Clinton or Ickes—informed the DNC, where Trie was a major fundraiser, that he was bringing in foreign donations to the Democrats, which was illegal,” The Times said, noting that all three had a probable fiduciary responsibility to warn Democratic fundraising officials. The report charged that Mrs. Clinton's “potential criminal involvement” was a result of her failure to alert the DNC....

...Some of the strongest accusations targeted Vice President Al Gore, who the report bluntly suggests “may have provided false testimony”.

Regarding Gore, task-force documents indicate skepticism of the Vice President's “failure of recollection” and other inconsistencies in his story.

The charge results from “a marathon fundraising effort launched over White House phones in late 1995, purportedly to raise unrestricted ‘soft money’, which was outside the election-law ban on political fundraising conducted from a federal workplace. The money was for ads to help the DNC and state party organizations,” according to The Times.

Gore told investigators he believed that no “hard money” was raised or used for such purposes but DNC records later showed that some money Gore raised ended up in the DNC's so-called “hard-money accounts”.

Soft money is defined as unlimited contributions by individuals, corporations and labor unions to political parties unregulated by federal election law. Hard money means restricted donations that can be spent directly on behalf of candidates.

Gore denied he'd done anything wrong. He first said he broke no laws because there was “no controlling legal authority” covering such fundraising solicitations. The DNC said that funds went to hard-money accounts without Gore's knowledge.

“Confronted with notes and memos indicating that a November 1995 meeting Gore attended in the Map Room of the White House included discussions about raising hard money, the Vice President said he did not recall such conversations or the memos” according to The Times.

Other investigative documents seen by The Times show that former White House Chief of Staff Leon E. Panetta told FBI agents that he remembered Gore “attentively listening” to discussions about the hard-money aspects of the media fund and “walking through the papers” as the November 1995 meeting progressed....

...Although Reno ordered the Justice Department to undertake a 90-day review of the Gore phone calls in 1997, she finally decided there were insufficient grounds to appoint an independent counsel.

Then, when a new memo from the 1995 meeting was discovered, Reno launched a second 90-day review to determine if an independent counsel should be named to investigate possible perjury charges against Gore.

After department officials reported there was “clear and convincing” evidence that Gore did not lie about the matter, Reno again decided against asking for an outside prosecutor.

“The action spared Gore an investigation likely to overlap his presidential campaign,” The Times noted. [JR: All those involved are well versed in the art of the lie. We have a government run by the principle of “hear no evil, see no evil and speak no evil” about themselves and a Justice Department which operates with blinders and conveniently never uncovers enough evidence to require a full investigation, much less an indictment. Wake up, America!]

CYBER-COP RENO TARGETS E-PRIVACY

By Julie Foster, WorldNetDaily, 3/10/00

Freedom of the press and privacy rights are hampering investigations into cyber crimes, says a White House committee report released yesterday that recommends such laws be re-evaluated in order to better protect citizens.

“The Internet has provided our world with unparalleled opportunities,” said Attorney General Janet Reno. “At the same time, the Internet is providing criminals a vast, inexpensive and potentially anonymous way to commit crime.”

Reno told a news conference the Internet poses law-enforcement problems like “the inability to trace criminals who hide their identities online, difficulty in finding criminals... in other jurisdictions”, and a need for more trained personnel. “The working group identified several areas where legal authorities and tools needed to combat cyber crime are insufficient.”

The report said some private Internet companies keep insufficient records to trace criminal activity. Commerce Secretary William M. Daley, appearing with Reno, said businesses must step up their efforts to make the Internet secure and cooperate more with law enforcement....

...But the [CFR-controlled] American Civil Liberties Union complained in a letter to Reno: “The report treats the anonymity of Internet users as a ‘thorny issue’, rather than a constitutional right.” Proposals to strip Internet anonymity “would chill free expression in cyberspace and strip away one of the key structural privacy protections enjoyed by Internet users”.

The Privacy Protection Act of 1980 secures the freedom of American journalists, scholars and writers to publish freely by prohibiting all law-enforcement agencies from searching for or seizing “any work product materials” or any related “documentary materials... possessed by a person... with a purpose to disseminate to the public a newspaper, book, broadcast or other similar form of public communication”.

However, President Clinton's “Working Group on Unlawful Conduct on the Internet”, headed by Reno, complains the Privacy Protection Act “may now apply to almost any search of any computer. Because computers now commonly contain enormous data storage devices, wrongdoers can use them to store material for publication—material that the PPA protects—while simultaneously storing (in a commingled fashion) child pornography, stolen classified documents, or other contraband or evidence of crime.

“With the advent of the Internet and widespread computer use,” the report continues, “almost any computer can be used to ‘publish’ material. As a result, the PPA may now apply to almost any search of any computer,” the committee laments.

The committee's conclusion left some Internet-based publishers cold: “Features of the Internet that make it different from prior technologies may justify the need for changes in laws and procedures that govern the detection and investigation of computer crimes.”

While the report has given Internet publishers the chills, the committee's conclusion is not unexpected—various agencies, including Reno's Justice Department, have stepped up efforts to regulate areas of the Web.

For example, the Food and Drug Administration successfully lobbied for $10 million to police Web pharmacies.

Similarly, the Federal Trade Commission began organized “surfing” sessions in December 1996 to ferret out pyramid schemes. To date, the FTC has led some 20 surfs with over 250 agencies around the world, resulting in the targeting of 4,000 commercial web-sites “that make dubious claims, largely in the promotion of health and diet products, pyramid schemes, business opportunities, investments and credit repair”.

The committee's report characterizes government-sponsored surf-and-tell sessions as “educational” for the companies it targets.

“[Surfs] offer an opportunity to educate web-site operators—many of whom are new entrepreneurs unaware of existing laws—instantly and directly. When agency staff surfers identify a site that may have problems, they send an e-mail message that explains why the site may violate the law....

...Internet policing has become a central focus of law enforcement, according to the report, and presents challenges of its own.

Because the Internet is a global phenomenon, crimes can be committed around the world from any location—a jurisdictional nightmare for law enforcement. Reno's committee recommends global criminal-justice alliances, using current European networks as a model....

...The lengthy report notes in its conclusion that a study must be conducted of state and local crime laws to determine their sufficiency in investigating and prosecuting Internet-related crime. In the next two months, the Justice Department will hold an East Coast and a West Coast conference with industry and privacy groups to discuss prospective legislation.

[JR: The pigmies of power—through this study group (CSG-1313)—are getting ready to write legislation to regulate the Internet. This is another ploy by Government enforcement to eliminate our privacy and deprive us of our constitutional right to seek and explore independent news sources now available on the Internet. The warning signs are there when a government fears a knowledgeable and informed public. Let's make sure this super-highway of information is kept open and prevent any obstruction to information by the snoops in Washington because of the possibility that 1% of the millions on the Internet might be abusing it. Who watches the watchers?]

INDIA AND CHINA
PURSUE FIRST SECURITY DIALOGUE

Yahoo News—Asia, 3/7/00

BEIJING (AFP)—India and China began a second day of talks Tuesday in their first ever dialogue on security matters including the thorny nuclear issue, diplomatic sources told AFP.

The Indian side at the talks is being led by the Foreign Ministry's Joint Secretary in Charge of Disarmament Affairs, Rakesh Sood, and the Chinese side by the Director General of its Foreign Ministry Asian Department, Zhang Jiuhuan.

On Monday, an embassy official said the two sides had an "extensive and wide-ranging dialogue on a variety of issues including global and regional issues".

He said "the atmosphere at the talks was frank and cordial" and both sides "found that the talks were useful for a better understanding of issues and the process would continue".

The current round of talks were to conclude on Tuesday, the official said.

He refused to go into the details of the issues covered so far but diplomatic sources indicated the nuclear issue had featured.

Relations took a nasty downturn after India conducted a series of underground nuclear tests in May 1998.

Beijing was furious after India justified the tests by pointing to a perceived threat from China's nuclear arsenal.

China's Foreign Ministry has made no comment yet on this week's talks.

However, a Chinese analyst, arguing that neighbours mattered for "China's economic strength and military might", called Tuesday for regional alliances to "defuse international hegemonism by the United States".

Writing in the official China Daily, Yan Xuetong of the China Institute of Contemporary International Relations said, "Regional alliances can rival U.S. power and cut into its influence."

"Not all neighbouring nations are friends China can trust," Yan said. "But they do not threaten China's security."

Good neighbours were a key element in fighting separatism within China, Yan noted, without mentioning the restive Tibet—which borders India, where the Tibetan spiritual leader the Dalai Lama is based—and Xinjiang—adjacent to Central Asian republics.

"If separatists abroad get no support from China's neighbours, they will become frustrated and fail," he said.

"And China-based separatists without international endorsement are not worth worrying about."

Yan also said, "If regionalisation in East Asia can expand to South Asia and the Mideast, Asia will become a stronger world presence."

China and India agreed to hold their current talks when Indian Foreign Minister Jaswant Singh visited Beijing last June in a bid to repair relations strained by India's nuclear tests.

India says China still holds 40,000 square kilometres (16,000 square miles) of its territory in Kashmir, while Beijing lays claim to part of the far-eastern Indian State of Arunachal Pradesh.

The disputes drew the two countries into a brief but bloody war in 1962.

[JR: China is gaining in strength by creating a coalition with her neighbors in Asia and also mending fences. Strobe Talbot & Co. have to know China is just as shrewd as they are. I wouldn't like to read the "fortune cookie" they have for us.]

NEVADA'S MYSTERIOUS AREA 51 EXEMPT
FROM TOXIC POLLUTION REGS

By Timothy W. Maier, Insight Magazine, 3/10/00

Don't drink the water or, for that matter, breathe the air in Area 51 because who knows what may be in it. President Clinton doesn't want you to know. He has declared the top-secret Air Force base near Groom Lake, Nev., off limits to national, state or local environmental laws. For several years, Clinton has sent a letter to Congress exempting Area 51 from all environmental restrictions. The secrecy of Area 51 has prompted scores of UFO enthusiasts to insist alien autopsies are being conducted there. But, say news alert! sources, the base is likely a center for black operations dealing with sophisticated jets.

Clinton's decision to exempt the base comes in reaction to Washington attorney Jonathan Turley, who sued the Air Force and the Environmental Protection Agency about pollution concerns that he claims led to the poisoning of five workers. The lawsuit was filed in 1996 after five former workers at the facility complained of being exposed to lethal toxins at the site, which is located about 95 miles north of Las Vegas.

One of the major concerns among families who believe their relatives were poisoned is that doctors were denied chemical reports, news alert! has learned, which would indicate how the workers may have been poisoned. Therefore, a proper treatment schedule could not be developed. Clinton prevented those records from being released, citing national-security concerns. Ironically, the first time Clinton ordered the base exempt from environmental restrictions, Oct. 3, 1995, was the same day he apologized for the United States engaging in human radiation experiments during the Cold War on Oct. 3, 1995. Even that news was buried in the media because Clinton made the announcement the day that O.J. Simpson was acquitted on double-murder charges.

The lawsuit against the Air Force was dismissed by U.S. District Judge Philip Pro. Turley then turned to the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, which ruled that lawyers for workers or widows are not entitled to learn what hazardous substances exist at Area 51 or how they are handled—or, for that matter, if they are contagious. The Supreme Court denied the subsequent appeal.

[JR: The above is a perfect example of the Government not having to abide by the laws they create to control us. To hide the abuses, President Bubba exempts military-base violations and sweeps the toxic mess under the carpet of many colors (of law), called National Security.]

OIL IS WELL WITH BUSH

By Tom Flocco, WorldNetDaily, 3/15/00

Given the continuing heating-oil-cost crisis in the Northeast and rising gasoline prices throughout the country, coupled with the reported role Kuwait is playing in that process—a report by the Chinese Xinhua

News Agency that former President Bush visited Kuwait just seven weeks ago—notches a few rungs higher on the "curious" list. This second trip to Kuwait by Bush—since his son's presidential aspirations became apparent—should start to raise some eyebrows.

For while private citizen Bush met with senior Kuwaiti officials according to Xinhua, there was no reporting about the content of the high-level discussions and the former President's January trip was quiet enough to escape notice by U.S. media. Given Kuwait's role in the high fuel prices, one wonders whether oil factored into the conversation.

Many American families have faced real home-heating struggles resulting from oil prices having tripled since last year; but now the public is poised for another financial assault, as gasoline prices have already surpassed 1991 Gulf War levels with oil analysts projecting potential $2.00 per-gallon prices for regular gas by Memorial Day, if not sooner.

As recently reported, American oil experts are complaining about Kuwait's strange leadership role in pushing the current round of higher oil, given the financial and human sacrifices Americans have made for Kuwait. Moreover, those with good memories will recount the role President George Bush played as prime mover of the coalition, wherein American troops were sent off to save Kuwait from the Iraqi occupation. "That's gratitude for you," said one unidentified expert, quoted in the New York Times.

Storm On The Horizon

With good cause, the Clinton-Gore Administration is worried that skyrocketing oil prices will cause a series of inflationary problems leading to higher interest rates by the Federal Reserve Board, a potential stock-market collapse and millions of highly stressed American budgets—right before the November election. In a March 2 interview with Fox News, former Energy Secretary James Schlessinger said, "Oil inventories for summer need to be built now and we are not doing so. I think it could cause trouble (in November) for the party in office if this continues."

Senator Charles Schumer, D-N.Y., echoed these sentiments on CNN the same day, saying, "the economy is being thrown off-kilter. OPEC (Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries) has dilly-dallied and we're headed toward $2.00 gas by Memorial Day." However, an examination of news report dates and comment relating to Kuwait's primacy in driving oil higher through OPEC—along with Mr. Bush's visits to Kuwait and a number of other coincidences—points to some unanswered political questions.

Former President Bush is so popular in Kuwait that, according to Reuters reports, his picture hangs in offices and residential buildings are named after him, and it is common knowledge that Bush is Kuwait's favorite American—so much so that the Kuwaiti sheiks would likely do almost anything to repay him for leading the coalition in restoring the ruling class to its former royal trappings of power. The question is whether the small country is more grateful to President Bush personally [or] to the U.S. soldiers who put their lives on the line in the Gulf.

American pocketbooks were greatly affected by high fuel-oil and gasoline prices caused by the Gulf War—which contributed to the economic woes that President Bush refused to acknowledge until it was too late before his election. As a result, the agitated and hurting electorate threw him out of office.

However, if the current course of events is maintained, with George, Jr. securing the Republican nomination, the Governor is clearly the beneficiary of an American public likely to be fed up with higher gasoline prices, grocery bills, interest rates and any other consumer items related to the current Kuwaiti-led push for continued high OPEC oil. And then Al Gore gets to explain the mishandled economy.

But reporters aren't asking the former President about the two visits to Kuwait and whether [or not] the sheiks sent signals that they would do anything possible to keep the production cuts in place—or at least severely limit any increases for as long as possible—to further disgruntle Americans as the November elections edge closer.

Oil In The Family

Kuwait started making noises on Oct. 13, 1998, when Reuters reported that Oil Minister Sheik Saud Nasser al-Sabah said it would push for oil-output cuts and “warned OPEC and non-OPEC producers against violations and a production war, stressing that Gulf Arab allies would suffer the least as they could damage the economies of others with their huge reserves and low crude oil production costs”.

Then, on Nov. 27, 1998, The Dallas Morning News reported that OPEC “decided not to cut oil output further and delayed until March 1999 any actions. ‘Until March, there will be too much oil, and prices will probably fall because of OPEC’s inaction,’ said Kuwait’s Oil Minister, Sheik Saud.”

Suddenly, Reuters reported, a few days later, former President Bush showed up in Kuwait to meet with his Middle Eastern friends and was received at the airport by Crown Prince and Prime Minister Sheik Saad al-Abdullah al Sabah. However, no reports were available regarding the subject of the meetings.

Since the Gulf War, Bush had visited Kuwait in 1993 and again in 1996, but now, in December 1998, he could proudly tell the Kuwaiti rulers that his son, George W., had just been overwhelmingly reelected Governor of Texas and the family was now discussing whether the younger Bush should follow his dad and gear up in early 1999 for a presidential run in 2000.

On March 10, 1999, OPEC held one-day talks regarding oil production cuts before the final session later in the month, wherein oil minister Sheik Saud said they had agreed to a “considerable reduction in current production”. Then, as Reuters reported, Saud added, “I can describe the current situation as a big step in the right direction.” But the Kuwaiti Sheik then took a harder line, saying that “First there must be full compliance with earlier, agreed-on cuts.”

That same week, U.S. News and World Report declared Bush “The Man To Beat” in a big magazine spread, as reports confirmed that the Texas Governor had formed his presidential exploratory committee four months after being reelected, so that he could begin to collect contributions and recruit a staff.

Later that spring, Sheik Saud said, “We expect prices to go up further with the start of winter in the northern hemisphere.... It depends on how severe next winter will be and how far demand will rise.” And on May 15, 1999, Reuters added that “Kuwait expects additional compliance to boost prices during the summer months.”

Kuwait’s price militancy increased dramatically after the Washington Times reported on July 2, 1999 that George W. was “flush with cash and may forgo matching funds”, which would free him to raise and spend as much as he wants from individual donors. For just 18 days later, on July 20, Reuters reported that Kuwaiti Oil Minister Sheik Saud said, “Oil exporters were not considering cutting the size or duration of agreed output cuts, even if prices rose further.... The commitment until the end of March (2000) is concrete, withstanding any situation.”

By September, Kuwait turned up the pressure even more as the U.S. presidential race began to draw closer. Sheik Saud reiterated [Kuwait’s] opposition to any increase in oil production and said the production cut agreed upon in March may stay even beyond its expiration date of March 2000, according to a Reuters report on Sept. 29, 1999. But Sheik Saud wasn’t finished, as a Hemscott Information Exchange Report out of Kuwait City on Dec. 2, 1999 noted that the Oil Minister said, “The possibility of extending the cuts beyond their March 2000 term has now become a reality, and I emphasize the word reality.”

Six weeks later, on Jan. 15, as the Xinhua News Agency reported, former President Bush arrived in Kuwait again and met with senior Kuwaiti officials. That same day, Reuters reported that Kuwait’s Oil Minister, Sheik Saud, said he saw “full agreement” among the six-member Gulf Cooperation Council to extend the cuts when they meet later this month in the Saudi capital. No U.S. reporter has questioned whether former President Bush influenced the position of the Kuwaiti Oil Minister a few weeks ago during their meetings.

Oil Is Slick

There are a number of compelling reasons to consider Kuwait’s leadership in the push for higher oil [prices] and their desire to limit expected production increases. First would be their budget deficit, which resulted in large part from the reconstruction expenses after the Gulf War, projected at about 22 percent of gross national product—one of the highest in the Middle East and North Africa region. Higher oil prices would help to draw down that deficit.

But higher oil would also repay some old debts to a former President who had come to their aid, only to face being summarily tossed out of office right after his crowning military moment because the economy had gone bad.

High oil prices had created the inflationary environment that wrecked Bush’s chances for reelection. Now Kuwait could help former President Bush avenge his unfair presidential loss to Mr. Clinton, impede Albert Gore’s presidential quest by causing the electorate to become uneasy and distressed about oil-caused economic problems and help their hero’s son, George W., crush Mr. Gore—Clinton’s legacy—in November, all while solving their own deficit problem at the same time.

How? The Kuwaiti sheiks need only to convince OPEC to hang tough with the production cuts until summer—or at least limit the production increases. U.S. citizens would just have to live with high gasoline prices and their concomitant economic consequences for just a few more months and everything would work out fine—for both Bushes and for Kuwait—Americans none the wiser.

And when the dates, visits and quotes out of Kuwait City are combined, there are just too many reasons to question whether [or not] former President Bush may have had some understanding about Kuwait’s strong desire to increase oil prices—if just until Junior was safely elected. However, absent an inquisitive media, the real truth may only be revealed in the quiet conversations between father and son after the inauguration ceremony.

TELEPHONE HOTLINE 661-822-0202

As an adjunct to CONTACT, the Telephone Hotline keeps you as informed as possible on current events and other important information that needs to get to our subscribers before our publishing date.

The message machine will answer after 2 rings if there are any new messages for that day, and after 4 rings if not. Thus daily callers can hang up after 2 rings and save toll charges if no new message has been recorded. If the Hotline does not answer your call, then there is currently no Hotline message.
